

DIARY of a Wimpy Kid

THE LAST STRAW

Sequel to the #1
New York Times
Bestsellers

Jeff Kinney

Diary of a Wimpy Kid: The Last Straw

(Diary of a Wimpy Kid #3)

Jeff Kinney

JANUARY : New Year's Day

You know how you're supposed to come up with a list of "resolutions" at the beginning of the year to try to make yourself a better person?

Well, the problem is, it's not easy for me to think of ways to improve myself, because I'm already pretty much one of the best people I know.

So this year my resolution is to try and help OTHER people improve. But the thing I'm finding out is that some people don't really appreciate it when you're trying to be helpful.

[Image: A lady eating chips and a boy standing behind the sofa.]

The caption reads: "I THINK YOU SHOULD WORK ON CHEWING

YOUR POTATO CHIPS MORE QUIETLY.

CHEW CHEW"

8

One thing I noticed right off the bat is that the people in my family are doing a lousy job sticking to THEIR New Year's resolutions.

Mom said she was gonna start going to the gym today, but she spent the whole afternoon watching TV.

And Dad said he was gonna go on a strict diet, but after dinner I caught him out in the garage, stuffing his face with brownies.

[Image: A man in the kitchen and a boy standing in the door.] The caption reads: "SLORK SLORK"

Even my little brother, Manny, couldn't stick with his resolution.

9

This morning he told everyone that he's a "big boy" and he's giving up his pacifier for good. Then he threw his favorite binkie in the trash.

[Image: A boy and a girl, sitting at a table, clap their hands as they look at the trash can and the little boy.] The caption reads: "CLAP CLAP CLAP CLAP"

Well, THAT New Year's resolution didn't even last a full MINUTE.

[Image: A boy and a girl stand to look at the little boy near the trash can.]

The caption reads: "SUCK SUCK SUCK"

The only person in my family who didn't come up with a resolution is my older brother, Rodrick, and that's a pity because his list should be about a mile and a half long.

10

So I decided to come up with a program to help Rodrick be a better person. I called my plan "Three Strikes and You're Out." The basic idea was that every time I saw Rodrick messing up, I'd mark a little "X" on his chart.

Well, Rodrick got all three strikes before I even had a chance to decide what "You're Out" meant.

[Image: A boy hits the other on his back.] The caption reads: "PUNCH PUNCH PUNCH"

Anyway, I'm starting to wonder if I should just bag MY resolution, too. It's a lot of work, and so far I haven't really made any progress.

Besides, after I reminded Mom for like the billionth time to stop chewing her potato chips so loud, she made a really good point. She said, "Everyone can't be as perfect as YOU, Gregory." And from what I've seen so far, I think she's right.

11

Thursday

Dad is giving this diet thing another try, and that's bad news for me. He's gone about three days without eating any chocolate, and he's been SUPER cranky.

The other day, after Dad woke me up and told me to get ready for school, I accidentally fell back asleep. Believe me, that's the last time I'll make THAT mistake.

[Image: A man pulls the sheet off the sleeping boy.] The caption reads: "WAKE UP!!!"

"ANK"

Part of the problem is that Dad always wakes me up before Mom's out of the shower, so I know that I still have like ten more minutes before I need to get out of bed for real.

12

Yesterday I came up with a pretty good way to get some extra sleep time without making Dad mad. After he woke me up, I took all of my blankets down the hall with me and waited outside the bathroom for my turn in the shower.

Then I lay down right on top of the heater vent. And when the furnace was blowing, the experience was even BETTER than being in bed.

[Image: A boy is sleeping outside the door.] The caption reads:

"AAAAAAAH!

FWOOSH"

The problem was, the heat only stayed on for about five minutes at a time.

So when the furnace wasn't running, I was just lying there on this cold piece of metal.

[Image: A boy shivers as he sleeps outside the door.] The caption reads:

"CHATTER CHATTER CHATTER"

13

This morning, while I was waiting for Mom to be done with her shower, I remembered someone gave her a bathrobe for Christmas. So I went into her closet and got it.

Let me just say that was one of the smartest moves I've ever made. Wearing that thing was like being wrapped in a big, fluffy towel that just came out of the dryer.

In fact, I liked it so much, I even wore it AFTER my shower. I think Dad might've been jealous He didn't come up with the robe idea first, because when I came to the kitchen table, he seemed extra-grumpy.

[Image: A boy enters and a man is sitting at the table and reading the newspaper.] The caption reads: "MORNIN!"

14

I tell you, women have the right idea with this bathrobe thing. Now I'm wondering what ELSE I'm missing out on.

I just wish I had asked for my own bathrobe for Christmas, because I'm sure Mom is gonna make me give hers back.

I struck out on gifts again this year. I knew I was in for a rough day when I came downstairs on Christmas morning and the only presents in my stocking were a stick of deodorant and a "travel dictionary."

[Image: A boy checks his Christmas stocking .] The caption reads:

"RODRICK

GREGORY"

I guess once you're in middle school, grown-ups decide you're too old for toys or anything that's actually fun.

15

But then they still expect you to be all excited when you open the lame gifts they get you.

[Image: Two ladies telling a boy to work hard in math.] The caption reads:

"

MATH IS RAD

IT'LL HELP YOU GET A JUMP-START ON ALGEBRA!"

Most of my gifts this year were books or clothes. The closest thing I got to a toy was a present from Uncle Charlie.

When I unwrapped Uncle Charlie's gift, I didn't even know what it was supposed to be. It was this big plastic ring with a net attached to it.

[Image: A big plastic ring with a net attached.]

16

Uncle Charlie explained that it was a "Laundry Hoop" for my bedroom. He said I was supposed to hang the Laundry Hoop on the back of my door and it would make putting away my dirty clothes "fun."

[Image: A man scolds the boy for using the net as a basket.] The caption reads: "TOSS"

At first I thought it was a joke, but then I realized Uncle Charlie was serious.

So I had to explain to him that I don't actually DO my own laundry.

17

I told him I just throw my dirty clothes on the floor, and Mom picks them up and takes them downstairs to the laundry room.

[Image: A boy talking to a man and a lady.]

Then a few days later, everything comes back to me in nice, folded piles.

I told Uncle Charlie he should just return the Laundry Hoop and give me cash so I could buy something I'd actually USE.

That's when Mom spoke up. She told Uncle Charlie she thought the Laundry Hoop was a GREAT idea.

18

Then she said that from now on I'd be doing my OWN laundry. So basically, it ends up that Uncle Charlie got me a chore for Christmas.

It really stinks that I got such crummy gifts this year. I put in a lot of effort buttering people up for the past few months, and I thought it would pay off on Christmas.

[Image: A boy shovels the snow outside the old man's house.]

[Image: A boy showing his pants to the old man.]

Now that I'm responsible for my own laundry, I guess I'm kind of GLAD I got a bunch of clothes. I might actually make it through the whole school year before I run out of clean stuff to wear.

19

Monday

When me and Rowley got to our bus stop today, we found a nasty surprise.

There was a piece of paper taped to our street sign, and it said that, effective today, our bus route was "rezoned." And what that means is now we have to WALK to school.

[Image: Two boys are standing at a bus stop.]

Well, I'd like to talk to the genius who came up with THAT idea, because our street is almost a quarter of a mile from the school.

Me and Rowley had to run to make it to school on time today. And what REALLY stunk was when our regular bus passed us by and it was full of kids from Whirley Street, the neighborhood right next to ours.

20

The Whirley Street kids made monkey noises when they passed us, which was really annoying because that's exactly what WE used to do when we passed THEM.

[Image: The bus rushes past as the boys keep standing.] The caption reads:

"OOH OOH!

EEE EEE!

PANT PANT"

I'll tell you one reason it's a bad idea to make kids walk to school. These days, teachers give you so much homework that, with all the books and papers you have to carry home, your backpack ends up weighing like a hundred pounds. And if you want to see what kind of an effect that has on kids over time, all you have to do is look at Rodrick and some of his friends.

21

[Image: Three boys near a wall.]

Speaking of teenagers, Dad scored a pretty big victory today. The baddest teenager in our neighborhood is this kid named Lenwood Heath, and he's kind of like Dad's archenemy. Dad has probably called the cops on Lenwood Heath about fifty times.

[Image: A girl skates and spills a dustbin and a man is standing at the door.]

The caption reads: "DAG NAB YOU ROTTEN TEENAGERS!

CLANG"

I guess Lenwood's parents got sick of his act, because they sent him off to military academy.

22

You'd think that would've made Dad pretty happy, but I don't think he'll be satisfied until every teenager on the planet gets sent off to juvenile hall or Alcatraz or something. And that includes Rodrick.

Yesterday Mom and Dad gave Rodrick some money to buy books so he could study for the SATs, but Rodrick spent the money on a tattoo instead.

[Image: A boy talking to a man and a lady.]

The caption reads: "

LÖDED DIPER"

I've still got a little time before I turn into a teenager. But the minute I do, I guarantee you Dad will be looking for the first chance to ship me out.

Monday

For the past week or so, Manny has been getting out of bed every night and coming downstairs.

23

[Image: A little boy talks to the two sitting on the sofa.]

Instead of putting him right back to bed, Mom lets Manny sit with us and watch TV.

It's really not fair, because when Manny is with us, I'm not allowed to watch any of the shows I like.

All I can say is, when I was a kid there wasn't any of this "getting out of bed" stuff. I did it once or twice, but Dad put a stop to it real quick.

There was this book Dad used to read to me every night called "The Giving Tree." It was a really good book, but the back of it had a picture of the author, this guy named Shel Silverstein.

24

But Shel Silverstein looks more like a burglar or a pirate than a guy who should be writing books for kids.

[Image: Picture of a man on the cover of a book.] The caption reads: "THE GIVING TREE"

Dad must have known that picture kind of freaked me out, because one night after I got out of bed, Dad said-

[Image: A boy is talking to the one in bed.] The caption reads: "IF YOU GET OUT OF BED AGAIN TONIGHT, YOU'LL PROBABLY RUN INTO SHEL SILVERSTEIN IN THE HALLWAY."

25

That really did the trick, Ever since then, I STILL don't get out of bed at night, even if I really need to use the bathroom.

I don't think Mom and Dad read Manny any Shel Silverstein books, which probably explains why he keeps getting up after they put him to bed.

I've heard some of the stories Mom and Dad read to Manny, and let me just say that the people who write these books really have a racket going.

First of all, there are hardly any words in them, so I'm sure it only takes about five seconds to write one.

[Image: A lady reading to the little one in bed.] The caption reads: "SILLY BEAR YAWNING, SILLY BEAR SAD.

SILLY BEAR SLEEPING, SILLY BEAR GLAD!

THE END.

"

26

I told Mom what I thought of Manny's books, and she said that if they were so easy to write, then I should try writing one myself.

So that's exactly what I did. Trust me, it wasn't hard, either. All you have to do is make up a character with a snappy name, and then make sure the character learns a lesson at the end of the book.

Now all I need to do is mail this thing off to a publisher and wait for the money to start rolling in.

[Image : An old man's picture on a book.

]

The caption reads: "

Wise up, Mr. Shropsharp!

by Greg Heffley

"

27

[Image: An old man.] The caption reads: "Once upon a time there was this man named Mr. Shropsharp who thought all these crazy thoughts.

I DON'T KNOW MUCH, BUT I DO KNOW ONE THING: POLAR BEARS ARE SOME USELESS ANIMALS."

[Image: An old man in a car.] The caption reads: "One day Mr. Shropsharp took a ride in his car.

HERE I GO..."

[Image: An old man's car falling down the bridge.] The caption reads: "But then...

OOPS."

28

[Image: A doctor and a bear stand near the old man's bed.] The caption reads: "And then...

MR. SHROPSHARP, YOU WOULD HAVE DROWNED, BUT LUCKILY TOBUK HERE WAS SITTING ON AN ICEBERG, AND HE SAVED YOUR LIFE."

[Image: An old man.] The caption reads: "And So..."

BEFORE, I SAID THAT POLAR BEARS ARE SOME USELESS

ANIMALS, BUT NOW I CAN SEE THAT NOT EVERY POLAR BEAR IS SO USELESS AFTER ALL.

THE END"

See what I mean? The only thing I noticed after I finished the book was that I forgot to make it rhyme. But the publisher is gonna have to pay me extra if they want THAT.

29

Saturday

Well, after spending the last two weeks walking to school, I was really looking forward to kicking back and doing nothing for two days.

The problem with watching TV on a Saturday is that the only thing that's on is bowling or golf. Plus, the sun comes through our sliding glass window, and you can barely see the TV screen anyway.

[Image: A boy sitting in the drawing room and watching T.V.] The caption reads: "THAT'S A SPARE, DAVE!"

Today I wanted to change the channel, but the remote was on top of the coffee table. I was all comfortable, with my bowl of cereal in my lap, so I really didn't want to get up.

30

I tried using the Force to make the remote levitate to me, even though I've tried it a million times before and it's never worked once. Today I tried for about fifteen minutes and concentrated REALLY hard, but no luck. I just wish I'd known that Dad was standing right behind me the whole time.

[Image: The man is looking at the boy on the sofa.] The caption reads:

"UNH...UNH... UNH...UNH..."

Dad told me I was gonna have to go outside and get some exercise. I told Dad I exercise all the TIME and just this morning I used the bench press he got me.

But I should have come up with something more believable, because it was pretty obvious that wasn't true.

31

[Image: A man standing in the dressing room.]

See, the reason Dad is on my case about exercise and all that is because he's got this boss named Mr. Warren, and Mr. Warren has three boys who are these crazy sports fanatics. Dad sees the Warren kids outside in their front lawn every day on his way home from work when his carpool goes by their house.

[Image: Children playing on the road as a car drives past.] The caption reads: "48... 49... 50!"

32

So I think Dad is pretty disappointed every time he gets home and sees what

HIS sons are up to.

[Image: A man looking at the two boys playing on the road.]

Anyway, like I said, Dad kicked me out of the house today. I couldn't really think of anything I wanted to do, but then I had a good idea.

Yesterday at lunch, Albert Sandy was telling everyone about this guy in China or Thailand or someplace who could jump six feet straight up in the air, no joke. The way the guy did it was by digging a hole that was three inches deep and then jumping in and out of it a hundred times. The next day, the guy doubled the size of the hole, and he jumped in and out of THAT. By the fifth day, he was practically like a kangaroo.

33

[Image: Three boys listening to the fourth as they sit at a dining table.]

Some of the guys at my table told Albert he was full of baloney, but what he was saying made a lot of sense to ME. Plus, I figured if I did what Albert said and then ADDED a few days to the program, all my problems with bullies could be over.

[Image:

The standing at the window sill is looking at the two men at the door.]

The caption reads: "

LOOKING

FOR SOMEONE, FELLOWS?"

34

I got a shovel out of the garage and found a place in the front yard that looked like a good spot to dig. But before I could even get started, Mom came outside and asked me what I was up to.

[Image: A lady standing at the door is looking at the boy with a shovel.]

I told Mom I was just digging a hole, but of course she didn't like THAT idea. So she came up with about twenty reasons why I wasn't allowed to do it.

Mom told me it was "dangerous" to dig in the yard because of underground electrical lines and sewage pipes and stuff. Then she made me promise up and down that I wouldn't dig any holes in our yard. So I promised.

35

Mom went inside, but then she kept watching me out the window. I knew I was gonna have to take my shovel and go dig a hole somewhere else, so I headed up to Rowley's house.

I haven't been going up to Rowley's much lately, mostly because of Fregley.

Fregley has been spending a lot of time in his front yard, and sure enough, that's where he was today.

[Image: Two boys outside near the postbox.] The caption reads: "DOES

My new strategy with Fregley is to just avoid eye contact and keep walking, and it seemed to do the trick today.

36

When I got to Rowley's I told him my idea, and how the two of us would practically be ninjas if we stuck with this hole-jumping program I planned out.

[Image: Two boys near a haystack.]

But Rowley didn't seem so hot on the idea. He said his parents might get mad if we dug a ten-foot hole in his front yard without asking them, so he was gonna have to get their permission first.

Now, if there's one thing I know about Rowley's parents, it's that they NEVER like my ideas. I told Rowley we could just cover the hole up with a tarp or a blanket or something and put some leaves on top of it, and his folks would never even find out. That seemed to convince him.

37

OK, so I admit that Rowley's parents might EVENTUALLY find out. But that wouldn't be for at least three or four months.

[Image: A man digging into the lawn.] The caption reads: "AIEEEEEEEEE!"

Me and Rowley found a good spot in the front yard to start digging, but we ran into a problem right away.

38

The ground was pretty much frozen SOLID, and we could hardly even make a dent.

[Image: A boy looks at the other trying to dig.] The caption reads:

"CLUNK"

I spent a few minutes trying before I handed the shovel over to Rowley. He couldn't really make any progress, either, but I gave him an extra-long turn so he could feel like he was contributing to the project.

[Image: A boy is digging and the other is looking at him from the window.]

The caption reads: "SIP

DIG"

Rowley got a little bit further than I did, but when it started to get dark out, he gave up.

39

I guess we'll have to take another crack at this thing tomorrow.

Sunday

Well, I thought about it a lot overnight, and I realized that at the rate me and Rowley are going, we're gonna to be in college before this hole is ten feet deep.

So I came up with a totally DIFFERENT idea for what we could do. I remembered this thing I saw on TV where scientists made a "time capsule" and filled it with a bunch of stuff like newspapers and DVDs and things like that. Then the scientists buried their time capsule in the ground. The idea was that in a few hundred years someone will come along and dig it up, and they can learn how people from our time used to live.

[Image: A treasure chest.] The caption reads: "TIME CAPSULE DO NOT OPEN UNTIL 2300 A.D."

40

I told Rowley about my idea, and he seemed pretty enthusiastic about it.

Mostly, I think he was just glad we weren't gonna spend the next few years digging a hole.

I asked Rowley to donate some items to put in the time capsule, and that's when he got cold feet.

I told Rowley that if he put some of his Christmas presents in the time capsule, people in the future would get some really cool stuff when they opened the box. Rowley told me it wasn't fair, because I wasn't putting any of MY Christmas presents in the time capsule. So I had to explain to him that the people in the future would think we were really lame if they opened the box and it was filled with clothes and books.

[Image: Two boys in a room.]

41

Then I told Rowley I'd throw in three dollars of my OWN money to prove I was making sacrifices, too. That seemed to be enough to convince him to fork over one of his new video games and a couple of other things.

I actually had a secret plan that I wasn't letting Rowley in on. I knew that putting the cash in the time capsule was a smart move, because that money is gonna be worth a LOT more than $3.00 in the future.

So hopefully whoever finds the time capsule will travel back in time and reward me for making them rich.

[Image:

An Indian giving a bag of money to a boy.

] The caption reads: "

FOR YOU, KIND SIR!"

42

I wrote a little note and put it in the box just to make sure the person who finds it knows exactly who to thank.

[Image: A notice.] The caption reads: "To whom it may concern:

The cash is from Greg Heffly 12 Surrey Street"

Me and Rowley found a shoe box and put all of our stuff in it. Then we sealed it up with some masking tape.

I wrote a little note on the outside of the box to make sure it didn't get opened too soon.

[Image: A box with a warning not to be opened.] The caption reads: "Time

Capsule

Do not open until time travel is possible."

43

After that, we put it in the hole we dug yesterday and buried it as best we could.

I kind of wish Rowley had put some more effort into digging the hole, because our time capsule wasn't really buried all the way. Hopefully nobody will mess with it, because it needs to stay there for at least a few hundred years.

[Image: a boy is patting the sand as the other stands near with a shovel.] The caption reads: "PAT PAT"

Monday

Well, my week got off to a rough start. When I got out of bed, Mom's bathrobe wasn't where it usually is, hanging on my doorknob.

I asked Mom if she took the robe back, but she said she didn't. So I have a feeling Dad had something to do with it.

44

A couple of days ago, I figured out a way to combine the bathrobe experience and the heating vent experience, and I don't think Dad really approved of my idea.

[Image: A boy opens the door to find another singing in his gown.] The caption reads: "AAAAAAAHHHHH!

FWOOSH"

I figure he either hid the robe or got rid of it. Now that I think of it, Dad made a run to the Goodwill bin last night after dinner, so that's probably not a good sign.

Anyway, if Dad DID get rid of the robe, it wouldn't be the first time he's thrown out someone's personal property. You know how Manny has been trying to quit using his pacifier?

45

Yesterday morning Dad got rid of every single one of Manny's binkies.

Well, Manny totally freaked out. The only way Mom could get him to calm down was to dig out his old blanket, this thing he calls "Tingy."

Tingy started off as a blue blanket that Mom knitted for Manny's first birthday, and it was love at first sight.

[Image: A lady is showing something to the little baby.]

Manny carried that thing around with him everywhere he went. He wouldn't even let Mom take it away from him so she could WASH it.

It started falling apart, and by the time Manny was two, his blanket was basically a couple of pieces of pieces of yarn held together by raisins and boogers.

46

I think that's when Manny started calling his blanket "Tingy."

[Image: cartoon of two snakes.]

For the past couple of days, Manny's been dragging Tingy around the house just like he did when he was a baby, and I've been trying to stay out of his way as much as possible.

[Image: A boy sitting on a sofa looking at the younger one.]

Wednesday

I'm getting really tired of walking to school every day, so this morning I asked Mom if she would drive me and Rowley. The reason I didn't ask her sooner is because Mom's car is covered in all these embarrassing bumper stickers, and kids at my school are brutal when it comes to that sort of thing.

47

I've tried scraping the bumper stickers off, but whatever kind of glue they put on those things is meant to last until the end of time.

[Image: A board of a school.] The caption reads: "My child is a graduate of Tender Cuddles Preschool

"

Today me and Rowley got a ride from Mom, but I told her to let us out BEHIND the school.

[Image: Two boys thank the lady in the car.] The caption reads: "ARE YOU SURE THIS IS WHERE I'M SUPPOSED TO DROP YOU OFF?

YEP, THANKS FOR THE RIDE!"

48

Well, I made the dumb mistake of leaving my backpack in the car, so Mom brought it to me in fourth period. And of course she picked TODAY to finally start going to the gym.

[Image: A lady gives a bag to a boy in his class.] The caption reads: "YOU FORGOT THIS, SWEETIE!"

It was just my luck, too. Fourth period is the only time I have a class with Holly Hills, and I've been trying to make a good impression on her this year. I figure this incident probably set me back about three weeks.

I'm not the only one who's trying to impress Holly Hills, either. I think just about every boy in my class has a crush on her.

49

Holly is the fourth-prettiest girl in the class, but the top three all have boyfriends. So a lot of guys like me are doing everything they can to get in good with her.

I've been trying to come up with an angle to separate myself from the rest of the goobers who like Holly. And I think I finally figured it out: humor.

See, the kids in my class are like Neanderthals when it comes to jokes. To give you an idea of what I'm talking about, here's the kind of thing that passes for comedy at my school-

[Image: A man kicking the boy.] The caption reads: "HAR HAR HAR! TRIP"

Anytime Holly's in the area, I make sure I use my best material.

50

I've been using Rowley as my comedy partner, and I've actually trained him on a couple of pretty decent jokes.

[Image: Five boys in conversation.] The caption reads: "WHATCHYA DOIN'?"

WHERE'D YA GET IT?

EATIN' CHOCOLATE.

A DOGGIE DROPPED IT!

HEH HEH HEH."

The only problem is, Rowley's starting to get a little greedy about who gets to say what, so I don't know if this partnership is gonna work out long-term.

[Image: Two boys talking.] The caption reads: "CAN I DO THE "DOGGIE DROPPED IT" PART?"

UM...I DON'T THINK SO."

51

Friday

Well, I learned my lesson about getting a ride from Mom, so I'm back to walking to school. But when I was heading home with Rowley this afternoon, I seriously didn't think I had the energy to make it up the hill to my house. So I asked Rowley if he'd give me a piggyback ride.

Rowley didn't exactly jump at the idea, so I had to remind him that we're best friends and this is the kind of thing best friends do for each other. He finally caved when I offered to carry his backpack for him.

[Image: A boy carrying the other on his shoulder.] The caption reads: "GASP WHEEZE"

52

I have a feeling this was a one-time thing, though, because Rowley was completely wiped out by the time he dropped me off at my house. You know, if the school is going to take away our bus ride home, the least they can do is install a ski lift on our hill.

[Image: Two boys sitting and waiting at a stop.]

I've e-mailed the principal about five times with my suggestion, but I haven't heard anything back yet.

When I got to my house, I was pretty tired, too. My new thing is that I take a nap every day after school.

53

In fact, I LIVE for my naps. Sleeping after school is the only way I can really recharge my batteries, and on most days the second I get home, I'm in bed.

[Image: A boy jumps into his bed.] The caption reads: "AAAAAAHHH!"

I'm actually kind of becoming an expert at sleeping. Once I'm out, I can sleep through just about anything.

The only person I know who's better at sleeping than me is RODRICK, and here's the reason I say that. A couple of weeks ago, Mom had to order Rodrick a new bed because he'd worn his out. So the furniture guys came to take his old mattress and box spring away.

54

When they came, Rodrick was in the middle of his after-school nap. So they took his bed away, and he just slept on the floor, right in the middle of his empty bed frame.

[Image: A boy is sleeping.]

The thing I'm worried about is that Dad is going to ban our after-school naps. I'm starting to get the feeling he's sick of waking the two of us up for dinner every night.

[Image: Two boys and a man at the dining table.]

Tuesday

Well, I hate to admit this, but I think my naps are starting to have an effect on my grades.

55

See, I used to do my homework when I got home from school, and then I watched TV at night. Lately I've been trying to do my homework WHILE I watch TV, and sometimes that doesn't work out too good.

[Image: A boy is sitting on the sofa watching t.v.] The caption reads: "TO MAKE SURE CARISSA STICKS AROUND FOR ANOTHER WEEK, DIAL "492" OR TEXT THE WORD "CARISSA" NOW!"

"BEEP BEEP BEEP"

I had this four-page Biology paper due today, but last night I kind of got caught up in this show I was watching. So I had to try to write the whole thing in the computer lab during recess today.

I didn't have a lot of time to do any research, so I played with the margins and the font size to stretch what I had to four pages. But I'm pretty sure Ms. Nolan is gonna call me on it.

56

[Image: First two pages of a book.] The caption reads: "CHIMPS

A four-page paper by

GREG HEFFLEY 1

This is a chimpanzee, or "chimp" for short.

Chimps are the subject of the paper you're holding in your hand right now.

2"

57

[Image: Last two pages of a book.] The caption reads: "Chimps are supposed to be smart, but I'm not so sure that's true."

GET OUT OF MY WAY, CHIMP!

BUT YOU ARE ONE.

DON'T CALL ME "CHIMP"!

OH, YEAH. 3"

"Well, it looks like I'm out of paper, so I guess this is

4

"

58

Yesterday I actually got a "zero" on a quiz in Geography. But in my defense, it was really hard to study for the quiz and watch football at the same time.

To be honest with you, I don't think teachers should be making us memorize all this stuff to begin with, because in the future everyone is going to have a personal robot that tells you whatever you need to know.

[Image: A boy is sitting and talking to a robot.] The caption reads:

"ROBOT! WHAT'S THE LARGEST ESTUARY IN THE WORLD?"

THANK YOU VERY MUCH!

"THE OB RIVER, IN RUSSIA."

59

Speaking of teachers, today Mrs. Craig was in a really bad mood. That's because the big dictionary that usually sits on her desk was missing.

I'm sure someone just borrowed it and forgot to put it back, but the word

Mrs. Craig kept using was "stole."

[Image: A teacher is standing near her desk.]

Mrs. Craig said that if the dictionary wasn't returned to her desk before the end of the period, she was keeping everyone inside for recess.

Then she told us she was going to leave the room, and that if the "culprit" returned the dictionary to her desk, there wouldn't be any consequences, and there would be no questions asked.

60

Mrs. Craig made Patty Farrell class monitor and left the room. Patty takes her job as class monitor really seriously, and when she's in charge, nobody dares to step out of line.

[Image: Teacher teaching the class.]

I was just hoping the person who took the dictionary would hurry up and come clean, because I had two cartons of chocolate milk for lunch.

[Image: Children in a classroom.] The caption reads: "MAY I PLEASE USE THE LAVATORY? NO."

61

But nobody did come forward. And sure enough, Mrs. Craig stuck to her promise and kept us inside for recess. Then she said she was gonna keep us inside every day until the dictionary was returned.

Friday

Mrs. Craig has kept us inside for the past three days, and still no dictionary. Today Patty Farrell was sick, so Mrs. Craig put Alex Aruda in charge of the room while she was gone.

Alex is a good student, but people aren't afraid of Alex the way they are of Patty Farrell. As soon as Mrs. Craig left the room, it was complete pandemonium.

[Image: Children fighting in the class room] The caption reads: "WHAP ALEX ARUDA"

62

A couple of guys who were sick of getting stuck inside for recess every day decided to try and figure out who took Mrs. Craig's dictionary. The first person they interrogated was this kid named Corey Lamb. I think Corey was number one on the list of suspects because he's smart and he's always using big words.

[Image: A boy is in the middle of two men.]

Corey fessed up to the crime in no time flat. But it turns out he only said he did it because the pressure made him crack.

[Image: The men check the boys bag e.t.c.] The caption reads: "SHAKE SHAKE SUCK SUCK"

63

The next kid on the list was Peter Lynn, and before you knew it Peter was confessing, too.

[Image: The boy is screaming as he is held by the two men.] The caption reads: "SQUEAL!"

I figured it was just a matter of time before those guys cornered ME. So I knew I had to think up something fast.

I've read enough Sherlock Sammy books to know that sometimes it takes a nerd to get you out of a pinch. And I figured if anyone could crack this case, it was Alex Aruda.

So me and a couple of other guys who were worried about getting hassled went over to Alex to see if he could help us out.

64

We told Alex we needed him to solve the mystery of who took Mrs. Craig's dictionary, but he didn't even know what we were TALKING about. I guess Alex had been so wrapped up in his book that he hadn't even noticed what had been going on around him for the past couple of days.

[Image: Four boys are looking at the girl reading from the book.]

Plus, Alex always stays inside to read during recess, so Mrs. Craig's punishment hadn't had a big effect on his life.

Unfortunately, Alex has read his share of Sherlock Sammy books, too, so he said he would help us if we paid him five bucks. Well, that was totally unfair, because Sherlock Sammy only charges a nickel. But me and the other guys agreed it was worth it, and we pooled our money, then forked over the five dollars.

65

We laid out all the facts of the case to Alex, but we didn't know a whole lot.

Then we asked Alex if he could get us pointed in the right direction.

I expected Alex to start taking notes and spout some scientific mumbo jumbo, but all he did was close the book he was reading and show the cover to us.

And you're not gonna BELIEVE this, but it was Mrs. Craig's dictionary.

[Image: Four boys are confused as they look at the girl reading from the book.]

Alex said he'd been studying the dictionary to get ready for the state spelling bee next month. Well, THAT would've been nice to know BEFORE we gave him our five bucks. Anyway, there was no time to waste complaining, because Mrs. Craig was gonna be back in the room at any second.

66

Corey Lamb grabbed the book from Alex and put it on Mrs. Craig's desk.

But she walked in the room right at that moment.

[Image: A teacher walks in as the boy puts the book on her desk.] The caption reads: "AHA!"

Mrs. Craig ended up going back on her whole "no consequences" promise, so Corey Lamb is gonna be spending the next three weeks inside during recess.

Looking on the bright side, though, at least he'll have Alex Aruda to keep him company.

[Image: Children playing in the front park.]

67

FEBRUARY

Tuesday

Yesterday in the cafeteria, when I emptied out my lunch bag, I got TWO

FRUITS-and no snacks.

[Image: Three boys at a play desk.] The caption reads: "WHAT THE-BINK BONK"

This was a pretty big problem. Mom always packs cookies or sugar wafers or something in my lunch bag, and it's usually the only thing I eat. So I had no energy for the rest of the day.

[Image: Boys in the ground as one hangs on the bar.] The caption reads: "AT LEAST DO ONE! "...I CAN'T!"

68

When I got home, I asked Mom what the deal was with the two-fruits thing. She said she always buys enough treats to last us the whole week, so one of us boys must've taken the snacks out of the bin in the laundry room.

I'm sure Mom thinks I'm the one stealing the snacks, but believe me, I already learned my lesson about doing THAT.

Last year I took treats out of the bin, but I totally paid the price for it when I opened my lunch bag at school and pulled out Mom's substitute snack.

[Image: A boy talks to the others at the table.] The caption reads: "WOULD ONE OF YOU GENTLEMEN CARE TO TRADE SOMETHING FOR A PACK OF CROUTONS?"

69

Today at lunch it was the same exact thing: two fruits and no snacks. Like I said, I really depend on the boost I get from that sugar. I almost fell asleep in Mr. Watson's class in sixth period, but luckily I snapped awake when my head hit the back of my chair.

[Image: A teacher teaching the boys in a class.] The caption reads: "WOOOZAA!"

When I got home, I told Mom it wasn't fair someone else was eating the treats and I was having to suffer. But she said she wasn't going to go grocery shopping until the end of the week, and that I'd just have to "make do" until then.

70

Dad wasn't any help, either. When I complained to him, he just made up a penalty for anyone caught stealing snacks, which was "no drums and no video games for a week." So obviously he thinks it's either me or Rodrick.

Like I said, it's not ME, but I figured Dad might be right about Rodrick.

When Rodrick went up to the bathroom after dinner, I walked down to his room to see if I could find any wrappers or crumbs.

But while I was poking around in Rodrick's room, I heard him coming downstairs. I had to hide quick, because for some reason Rodrick gets really bent out of shape when he catches me in his room, like he did yesterday.

[Image: Three boys in the music room.] The caption reads: "HEY, LOOK AT ME!"

71

Right before Rodrick got to the bottom of the stairs, I dove into his desk cabinet and shut the door. Rodrick walked in the room, then flopped on his bed and called his friend Ward.

Rodrick and Ward talked FOREVER, and I was starting to think I might have to spend the night in that desk.

[Image: A boy resting in his room.]

Rodrick and Ward got into a pretty heated debate about whether or not a person could throw up while standing on their head, and I started to feel like I was gonna throw up myself. Luckily, right around then, the phone's battery died. When Rodrick went upstairs to get the spare phone, I made a run for it.

72

This snack thing wouldn't even be an issue if I had money. If I did, I could just buy something from the vending machine at school every day.

At the moment, though, I'm kind of broke. That's because I wasted all my money on some junk I can't even USE.

About a month ago, I saw these ads in the back of one of my comic books, and I sent away for a couple of things that were supposed to TOTALLY change my life.

[Image: Advertisements.]

73

I started receiving my stuff in the mail about two weeks ago.

The Cash Machine turned out to be some stupid magic trick where you have to insert your OWN money in this secret slot for it to work. And that wasn't good, because I was really counting on that thing to get me out of having to find a job when I grow up.

[Image: A boy sitting on his bed.]

The X-Ray Goggles just made you see blurry and cross-eyed, so that was a bust, too.

[Image: Two girls laughing as the boy wearing the glasses trips on the road.]

The caption reads: "OOF!"

74

The Throw Your Voice thing didn't work at ALL, even though I followed the instructions in the book.

[Image: A boy looks at the other talking to a girl.] The caption reads: "'I'M AN IDIOT."

"I'M AN IDIOT."

WHAT THE HECK?"

But the item I had the highest hopes for was the Personal Hovercraft. I figured getting home after school would be a breeze once my hovercraft finally showed up in the mail.

[Image: Four children look at the boy flying past on his skateboard.] The caption reads: "SO LONG, SUCKERS!"

"WHIRRRR

BUS STOP"

75

Well, I got the package today, but there wasn't a hovercraft inside. There was just a blueprint for how to BUILD a hovercraft, and I got stuck on Step One.

[Image: A boy taking out the post from the box.]

The caption reads: "Step One:

Acquire an industrial twin-turbine engine."

I just can't believe the people who write those ads can get away with lying to kids like that. I thought about hiring a lawyer to sue those guys, but lawyers cost money, and like I said before, the Cash Machine was a piece of garbage.

Thursday

Today, when I got home from school, Mom was waiting for me, and she didn't look too happy. It turns out the school sent home mid-quarter report cards, and she got the mail before I could intercept it.

76

Mom showed me the report card, and it wasn't pretty. Then she said we were gonna wait for DAD to get home to see what HE thought.

[Image: A lady talking to the boy.,]

Man, waiting for Dad to get home when you're in trouble is the worst. I used to just hide in the closet, but recently I figured out a better way to handle it. Now, whenever I get in trouble, I ask Gramma to come over for dinner, because Dad's not gonna act mad at me if Gramma's around.

[Image: A lady and a boy talking on the phone.] The caption reads: "WHY, AREN'T YOU A DEAR?"

At dinner, I made sure I sat in the seat right next to Gramma.

77

[Image: A man walks into the dinning room towards his family.]

Luckily, Mom didn't mention my report card during dinner. And when Gramma said she needed to leave to go to Bingo, I tagged right along with her.

[Image: The boy runs out of the dinning room leaving the man at the table alone.] The caption reads: "CATCH YOU GUYS LATER!"

Escaping Dad wasn't the ONLY reason I went to Bingo with Gramma. I also went because I needed a surefire way to make some money.

78

I figured spending a few hours with Gramma and her Bingo friends was a pretty fair price to pay for a week's worth of snacks from the vending machine in the school cafeteria.

Gramma and her friends are EXPERTS at Bingo, and they're real serious about it, too. They have all sorts of gear like lucky blotters and "Bingo Trolls" and stuff like that to help them win.

One of Gramma's friends is so good that she memorizes all her cards, and she doesn't even NEED to use a blotter to mark them off.

[Image: A man.]

For some reason, tonight Gramma and her friends weren't winning like they usually do. But then on the "Cover All" game, I got every square. I yelled out "BINGO" real loud, and the clerk came over to check my card.

79

It turns out I messed up and covered a couple of squares that I shouldn't have. The clerk announced that my win was no good, and everyone else in the room was pretty happy that they could keep playing.

Gramma told me not to call so much attention to myself if I called out "Bingo" again, because the regulars don't like it when a newcomer wins.

I thought Gramma was pulling my leg, but sure enough, the regulars sent one of their ladies over to intimidate me. And I have to admit, she did her job really well.

[Image: A lady, a boy and an old lady.]

Friday

Well, today wasn't exactly my best day ever. For starters, I flunked my Science test. So it probably would've been a good idea to have studied last night instead of spending four hours at Bingo.

80

I fell asleep in sixth period today, and this time I was out COLD-Mr. Watson had to shake me to get me to wake up. As a punishment, I had to sit in the front of the room.

That was just fine with me, because at least up there I could sleep in peace.

[Image: A boy sleeps on his chair behind the teacher in a class room.] The caption reads: "SNORE"

I just wish someone woke me up when sixth period ended, because I didn't wake up until the NEXT period started.

[Image: The teacher stares at the boy as the others laugh in the class.] The caption reads: "SNORK?"

81

The class I woke up in was taught by Mrs. Lowry. Mrs. Lowry gave me detention, and on Monday I'm gonna have to stay after school to serve it.

Tonight I was totally jittery from my sugar withdrawal, but I didn't have any money to go buy a soda or candy from the convenience store. So I did something

I'm not real proud of.

I went to Rowley's and dug up the time capsule we buried in his front yard.

But I only did it because I was desperate.

[Image: A boy shoveling the snow in the night.]

I took the time capsule back to my house, opened it up, and got out my three bucks. Then I went down to the convenience store and bought myself a big soda, a pack of gummy bears, and a candy bar.

82

I guess I feel a little bad that the time capsule me and Rowley put together didn't stay buried for a few hundred years. On the other hand, it's kind of neat that one of US got to open it, because we had actually put some really good stuff in there.

[Image: A boy sitting in front of a T.V.]

Monday

I didn't really know what to expect from detention, but when I walked into the room, the first thought I had was, "I don't belong in here with these future criminals."

I took the only empty seat, which was right in front of this kid named Leon Ricket.

[Image: three boys sitting on chairs and one empty chair for a boy.]

83

Leon is not the brightest kid in our school. He was in detention because of what he did when a wasp landed on the window in homeroom.

[Image: The man swings the chair at the window as the other tries to stop him.]

I found out that all you do in detention is sit there and wait for it to be over.

You're not allowed to read or do your homework or ANYTHING, which is a pretty dumb rule, considering that most of the kids in there could really use the extra study time.

Mr. Ray was the moderator, and he more or less kept an eye on us. But every time Mr. Ray looked away, Leon would flick my ear or give me a Wet Willie or something like that. Eventually Leon got careless, and Mr. Ray caught Leon with his finger in my ear.

84

Mr. Ray said if he caught Leon touching me again, he was gonna be in BIG trouble.

[Image: Children in the class with their teacher.] The caption reads: "YES, MR. RAY."

I knew Leon was just gonna go back to bugging me, so I decided to put a stop to it. As soon as Mr. Ray's back was turned, I slapped my hands together to make it seem like Leon hit me.

[Image: A boy is playing a prank in the class.] The caption reads: "OUCH!

SMACK"

85

Mr. Ray turned around and told Leon he was gonna have to stay another half hour, and that he had detention again TOMORROW.

On the way home, I was wondering if I made the smartest move back there at the school. I'm not exactly the fastest runner, and a half hour isn't that big of a head start.

[Image: A boy running with a bag on the road.]

Tuesday

Tonight I realized ALL of my current problems can be traced back to when someone in my family started stealing the lunch snacks. So I decided to catch the thief once and for all.

86

I knew Mom had gone grocery shopping over the weekend, so there was a fresh supply of snacks in the laundry room. That meant the snack thief was pretty much guaranteed to strike.

After dinner I went in the laundry room and turned off the light. Then I climbed in an empty basket and waited.

[Image: A boy hiding in the basket.]

About a half hour later, someone came in the room and turned on the light, so I hid under a towel. But it turns out it was just Mom.

I stayed perfectly still while she got clothes out of the dryer. Mom didn't notice me in there, and she dumped the clothes from the dryer right into the bin where I was hiding.

87

[Image: The lady is putting the clothes in the basket.] The caption reads:

"DUMP"

Then she walked out of the room, and I waited some more. I was seriously ready to wait there all night if that's what it took.

But the clothes from the dryer were really warm, and I started feeling a little drowsy. And before I knew it, I was asleep.

[Image: The boy is sleeping in the basket filled with clothes.] The caption reads: "ZZZZZ"

I don't know how many hours I slept, but what I DO know is that I woke up to the sound of crinkling cellophane.

88

When I heard the sound of chewing, I turned on my flashlight and caught the thief red-handed.

[Image: The man is scared as the boy jumps up from the basket.] The caption reads: "HA!

MMMFF!"

It was Dad! Man, I should have known it was him from the start. When it comes to junk food, he's a total ADDICT.

I started to give Dad a piece of my mind, but he cut me off. He wasn't interested in talking about why he was stealing our lunch snacks. What he WAS interested in talking about was what the heck I was doing buried in a pile of Mom's underwear in the middle of the night.

Right at that moment, we heard Mom coming down the stairs.

89

I think me and Dad realized how bad the situation looked for both of us, so we each just grabbed as many oatmeal creams as we could carry and made a run for it.

Wednesday

I was still really steamed at Dad for stealing our lunch treats, and I was planning on confronting him tonight. But Dad was in bed by 6:00, so I didn't get my chance.

Dad went to bed so early because he was depressed about something that happened when he got home from work. When Dad was getting the mail, our neighbors from up the street, the Snellas, walked down the hill with their new baby.

[Image: The couple greets the boy checking his mail.] The caption reads:

"HEY THERE, FRANK!"

90

The baby's name is Seth, and I think he's about two months old.

Every time the Snellas have a baby, six months later they throw a big "half-birthday" party and invite all the neighbors.

The highlight of each Snella half-birthday party is when the adults line up and try to make the baby laugh. The grown-ups do all these wacky things and make COMPLETE fools of themselves.

[Image: A lady sits beside the baby's cot and the three men are sitting.] The caption reads: "GOO GOO GOO GOO GOO!"

I've been to every single Snella half-birthday party so far, and no baby has laughed once.

91

Everyone knows the REAL reason the Snellas have these half-birthday parties is because their big dream is to win the $10,000 Grand Prize on "America's Funniest Families." That's this TV show where they play home movies of people getting hit in the groin with golf balls and stuff like that.

The Snellas are just hoping something really funny will happen at one of their parties so they can catch it on videotape. They've actually gotten some pretty good stuff over the years. During Sam Snella's half-birthday party, Mr. Bittner split his pants doing jumping jacks. And during Scott Snella's party, Mr. Odom was walking backward, and he fell in the baby pool.

[Image: A man falls into the baby's bathing tub as the lady looks.]

The caption reads: "

WWAAUUGH!

WHIRR"

92

The Snellas turned in those videos, but they didn't win anything. So I guess they're just gonna keep having babies until they do.

Dad HATES performing in front of people, so he'll do everything he can to avoid having to act like a fool in front of the whole neighborhood. And so far, Dad has weaseled his way out of every single Snella half-birthday party.

At dinner, Mom told Dad he HAS to go to Seth Snella's half-birthday party in June. And I'm pretty sure Dad knows that this time, his number is finally up.

[Image: A man is touching the calendar.] The caption reads: "JUNE"

Thursday

Everybody at school has been talking about the big Valentine's Dance that's coming up next week.

93

This is the first year at my school that they've actually had a dance, so everyone's all excited. Some of the guys in my class were even asking girls if they would be their dates to the dance.

Me and Rowley are both bachelors at the moment, but that's not gonna stop us from arriving in style.

[Image: The three girls look at the boys stepping out of the limo.]

I figured if me and Rowley scraped together some money in the next few days, we could rent a limo for the night. But when I called the limo company, the guy who answered the phone called me "Ma'am." So that pretty much blew any chance he had of getting MY business.

94

Since the dance is next week, I realized I was gonna need something to wear.

I'm kind of in a pinch because I've already worn most of the clothes I got for Christmas, and I'm almost out of clean stuff to wear. I went through my dirty clothes to see if there was anything I could wear a SECOND time.

[Image: A boy throwing out the clothes from the bag.] The caption reads:

"SHAKE SHAKE"

I separated my laundry into two piles: one that I could wear again, and one that would get me sent down to Nurse Powell's office for a lecture on hygiene.

[Image: A boy picks up a shirt from the pile.] The caption reads: "SNIFF"

95

I found a shirt in pile number one that wasn't so bad, except it had a jelly stain on the left-hand side. So at the dance, I'll just need to remember to keep Holly Hills to the right of me at all times.

Valentine's Day

I was up late last night making Valentine's cards for everyone in my class.

I'm pretty sure my middle school is the only one in the state that still makes all the kids give cards to one another.

Last year I was actually looking forward to the card swap. The night before Valentine's Day, I spent a lot of time making an awesome card for this girl named Natasha who I kind of liked.

[Image: A love letter.]

96

I showed Mom my card to check for spelling errors, but she said what I wrote wasn't "age appropriate." She told me maybe I should just get Natasha a little box of candy or something, but I wasn't about to take romantic advice from my mother.

At school everyone went around the room and put their Valentine's cards in one another's boxes, but I delivered my card to Natasha personally.

[Image: A boy is giving a letter to the girl.]

I let her read it, and then I waited to see what she made for ME.

Natasha dug around in her box and pulled out this cheap store-bought card that was supposed to be for her friend Chantelle, who was out sick that day.

97

Then Natasha scribbled out her friend's name and put MY name on it instead.

[Image: A letter with a cartoon on it.] The caption reads: "To: Greg From:

natasha

I think you're FAR OUT"

Anyway, you can probably see why I wasn't too enthusiastic about the card exchange THIS year.

Last night I came up with a great idea. I knew I had to make a card for everyone in the class, but instead of being all mushy and saying things I didn't really mean, I told everyone EXACTLY what I thought of them.

98

The trick was, I didn't actually SIGN any of my cards.

[Image: Boys in a class.] The caption reads: "Dear James, you smell."

A few of the kids complained about the cards to our teacher, Mrs. Riser, and then she went around the room trying to figure out who sent them. I knew Mrs. Riser would think that whoever DIDN'T get a card was the culprit, but I was prepared for that, because I made a card for MYSELF, too.

[Image: A teacher talking to the boy.] The caption reads: "Dear Greg, I hate your guts."

99

After the card exchange came the Valentine's Dance. The dance was originally supposed to be at NIGHT, but I guess they couldn't get enough parents to volunteer to be chaperones. So they put the dance smack in the middle of the school day instead.

The teachers started rounding everyone up and sending them down to the auditorium at around 1:00. Anyone who didn't want to cough up the two bucks for admission had to go down to Mr. Ray's room for study hall.

But it was pretty obvious to most of us that "study hall" was basically the same thing as detention.

[Image: A teacher sits at his desk in the class.]

100

The rest of us filed into the gym and sat in the bleachers. I don't know why, but all the boys sat on one side of the gym, and all the girls sat on the other. Once everyone was inside the gym, the teachers started the music. But whoever picked out the songs is SERIOUSLY out of touch with what kids are listening to these days.

[Image: Children sitting and listening to the radio.] The caption reads:

"EXIT

YOU DO THE HOKEY POKEY AND YOU TURN YOURSELF

AROUND..."

For the first fifteen minutes or so, no one moved a muscle. Then Mr.

Phillips, the guidance counselor, and Nurse Powell walked to the middle of the gym and started dancing.

101

I guess Mr. Phillips and Nurse Powell thought if THEY started dancing, all the kids would come down onto the floor and join them. All they REALLY did was GUARANTEE that everyone stayed in their seat.

[Image: Two people dancing.]

Finally, Mrs. Mancy, the principal, grabbed a microphone and made an announcement. She said that everyone in the bleachers was REQUIRED to come down onto the floor and dance, and it would count for 20% of our Phys Ed grades.

At that point me and a couple of other boys tried to sneak out to go down to

Mr. Ray's room, but we got caught by some teachers who were blocking the exits.

102

Mrs. Mancy wasn't kidding about the gym grade thing, either. She was walking around with Mr. Underwood, the Phys Ed teacher, and he was carrying his gradebook with him.

[Image: Two boys dancing as the teachers look at them.] The caption reads:

"SNAP"

SNAP"

I'm already close to flunking Phys Ed, so I knew it was time to get serious.

But I didn't want to look like a fool in front of the kids in my class, either. So I just came up with the simplest move I could do that would technically qualify as "dancing."

[Image: A boy trying to dance to the steps.] The caption reads: "STEP

PAUSE STEP PAUSE"

103

Unfortunately, a bunch of guys who were worried about THEIR Phys Ed grades saw what I was doing, and they came over to where I was. And the next thing I knew, I was surrounded by a bunch of bozos who were stealing my moves.

[Image: Four boys dancing.] The caption reads: "STEP STEP STEP STEP"

I wanted to get as far away from those guys as I could, so I looked around the gym for a place where I could go and dance in peace.

That's when I spotted Holly Hills across the room, and I remembered why I even bothered coming to the dance in the first place.

Holly was dancing with her friends in the middle of the gym, and I started doing my step-dance thing, moving slowly toward them.

104

All the girls were lumped together in one big pack, and they were dancing like professionals, probably because they spend all their free time watching MTV.

[Image: Girls are dancing.]

Holly was right in the middle of the group. I kind of danced around the outside of the circle for a while, trying to find an opening, but I couldn't.

Finally, Holly stopped dancing and went to get a drink, and I knew it was my big chance.

[Image: A boy looks at the girl who is cooking.] The caption reads: "STEP"

105

But just when I was about to go up to Holly and say something witty, Fregley came flying in out of NOWHERE.

[Image: A boy is scaring the other boy as the girl looks at him.] The caption reads: "BOOGIE BOOGIE BOOGIE!"

Fregley had pink frosting covering his face, so he was probably all hopped-up on sugar from the cupcakes they were serving at the refreshments table.

All I know for sure is that he TOTALLY ruined what should have been a great moment between me and Holly.

A few minutes later, the dance was over, and I missed my chance to make a good impression on her. I walked home alone after school, because I just needed a little time by myself.

106

After dinner Mom told me there was a Valentine's card out in the mailbox with my name on it. When I asked her who it was from, she just said, "someone special." I ran out to the mailbox and got the card, and I have to admit I was pretty excited. I was hoping it was from Holly, but there are at least four or five other girls at my school who I wouldn't mind getting a card from, either.

The card was in a big pink envelope with my name written in cursive. I ripped it open, and here's what I found: a sheet of construction paper with a piece of candy taped to it, and it was from ROWLEY.

[Image: A boy posting a new love letter in the box.] The caption reads:

"FRESH"

Sometimes I just don't know about that boy.

107

MARCH

Saturday

The other day Dad found Manny's blanket, Tingy, on the couch. I don't think Dad knew what it was, so he threw it away.

[Image: A man throwing dirt in the bin.]

Ever since then Manny's been turning the house upside down looking for his blanket, and finally Dad had to tell him that he accidentally threw it out. Well, Manny got his revenge yesterday by using Dad's Civil War battlefield as a playset.

[Image: The man looks at the table with toys.]

108

Manny's been taking his anger out on everyone else, too. Today I was sitting on the couch just minding my own business, and Manny walked up to me and said-

[Image: The little boy talks to the elder one sitting on the sofa.] The caption reads: "PLOOPY!"

I didn't know if "Ploopy" was some kind of little-kid bad word or what, but I didn't like the sound of it. So I went to find Mom and ask her if SHE knew what it meant.

Unfortunately, Mom was on the phone, and when she's gabbing with one of her friends, it takes forever to get her attention.

[Image: The boy tries to talk to his mom who is on the phone.] The caption reads: "MOM MOM MOM MOM MOM MOM MOM"

TUG TUG"

109

I finally got Mom to stop talking for a second, but she was mad that I interrupted her. I told her Manny called me "Ploopy," and she said-

[Image: The woman screams at the boy scaring him.] The caption reads:

"WHAT IS A PLOOPY?"

That kind of threw me for a second, because it's the exact question I was trying to ask HER. I didn't have an answer, so Mom just went back to her conversation.

After that, Manny knew he had a green light to call me Ploopy whenever he wanted, and that's what he's been doing all day.

[Image: A boy peeps from the door to look at the big boy.] The caption reads: "WIPE MY HEINIE, PLOOPY!"

110

I guess I should've known that telling on Manny wasn't gonna get me anywhere. When me and Rodrick were little, we used to tell on each other so much that it made Mom crazy. So she brought out this thing called the Tattle Turtle to solve the problem.

[Image: A tortoise.]

Mom came up with the Tattle Turtle idea when she taught preschool. The idea behind the Tattle Turtle was that if me and Rodrick had a problem with each other, we had to tell the Tattle Turtle instead of Mom. Well, the Tattle Turtle worked out GREAT for Rodrick, but not so much for me.

[Image: The boy talks to the tortoise on the table as the other boy looks.]

The caption reads: "TATTLE TURTLE, RODRICK STOLE ALL THE MONEY FROM MY PIGGY BANK!"

111

Easter

On the car ride to church today, I felt like I was sitting on something sticky. And when I got out and turned around to look at the back of my pants, there was chocolate ALL OVER them.

[Image: A boy is standing near the car with his parents.]

Manny had brought his Easter bunny with him in the car, and I must've been sitting on an ear or something.

Mom was trying to get the family inside so we could get good seats, but I told her there was no WAY I was going in there looking like that.

I knew Holly Hills and her family were probably already there, and I really didn't need her wondering if I'd pooped in my pants.

112

Mom said skipping church on Easter wasn't an option, and we argued back and forth. Then Rodrick chimed in with HIS solution.

[Image: A boy shows his pants to the family.] The caption reads: "HE CAN WEAR MY PANTS!"

Rodrick knows that church on Easter is always at least two hours long, so he was just looking for an excuse to get out of it. But right at that moment, Dad's boss and his family pulled up alongside us in the parking lot.

[Image: The men on the road look at the car as it goes by.] The caption reads: "HAPPY EASTER, HEFFLEYS! HONK"

113

Mom made Rodrick put his pants back on, and then she gave me her sweater to tie around my waist.

I don't know which was worse: wearing dress pants with chocolate all over them or wearing Mom's pink Easter sweater like a kilt.

[Image: The family walks into the house.]

Church was pretty full. The only seats that were empty were right up front where Uncle Joe and his family were sitting, so we sat next to them.

I looked around, and I spotted Holly Hills and her family three rows back. I was pretty sure she couldn't see what I was wearing from the waist down, so that was a relief.

114

As soon as the music started up, Uncle Joe reached out to hold hands with me and his wife, and he started singing.

[Image: People standing in rows and singing.]

I tried to break free a couple of times, but Uncle Joe had an iron grip. The song was only like a minute long, but to me it felt like half an hour.

After the song was over, I turned to the people behind us, pointed at Uncle Joe, and made the "cuckoo" sign so everyone knew I wasn't on board with this holding-hands thing.

[Image: A boy is twisting his ear.] The caption reads: "TWIRL"

115

Somewhere in the middle of church, they passed a basket around so people could give money to help the needy.

I didn't have any money of my own, so I whispered to Mom to see if she would give me a dollar. Then, when the basket came to me, I made a big deal of putting the dollar in the basket to make sure Holly could see how generous I was.

[Image: The boy is putting the money in the basket for donations in the church.]

But when I put the money in the basket, I realized Mom had given me a TWENTY, not a single. I tried to grab the basket to make change, but it was too late.

All I can say is, I better get some points in Heaven for THAT donation.

116

I've heard that when you do good deeds, you're supposed to be all private about it, but that doesn't really make a whole lot of sense to ME.

If I start hiding my good deeds, I'm sure I'll just regret it later on.

[Image: A little boy talking to the man on the seat.] The caption reads: "BUT WHAT ABOUT THAT SQUIRREL I HELPED WITH THE BROKEN LEG? SORRY... I MUST'VE MISSED THAT."

Like I said before, the Easter service is SUPER long. One of the songs was going on for about five minutes, and I started looking for ways to entertain myself.

117

The way that Rodrick keeps himself busy when he's bored is by picking at this scab on the back of his hand that he never lets heal, but I'm not really interested in going that route.

Manny has it MADE in church. Mom and Dad let him bring all sorts of stuff with us to keep him entertained. Believe me, Mom and Dad never let me bring anything to church when I was his age.

[Image: A couple and their son.]

Mom and Dad ALWAYS baby Manny, though, and I'll give you an example of what I'm talking about. Last week Manny was at preschool, and when he opened up his lunchbox his sandwich was cut in HALF, not in QUARTERS, the way he likes it.

118

Manny threw a huge temper tantrum, and the teachers had to call Mom. So she left work and drove all the way down to Manny's school to make the extra slice.

[Image: A lady giving a slice to the small boy at his school.] The caption reads: "THERE YOU GO, SWEETIE! SNIFF"

Anyway, I was thinking about this at church, and all of a sudden I got an idea in my head. I leaned over to Manny and whispered-

[Image: A boy talking to the small one] The caption reads: "PLOOPY!"

Well, Manny completely LOST it.

119

He started BAWLING, and everyone in the church turned their heads our way. Even the minister stopped talking to see what was going on.

Mom couldn't calm Manny down, so we had to leave. Instead of walking out the side door, though, we walked right down the center aisle.

I tried to look as cool as possible when we walked past the Hills family, but it was pretty tough, considering the circumstances.

[Image: Two men staring at the family walking past.]

The only person more embarrassed than me was Dad. Dad tried to cover his face with the church bulletin, but his boss spotted him and gave Dad the "thumbs up" on the way out.

120

Wednesday

Things have kind of been tense around the house since the mess the other day. First of all, Mom was really mad at me for calling Manny "Ploopy," so I had to remind her that she didn't have any problem when MANNY said it. So Mom banned the word for everyone, and she said that if anyone was caught saying it, they'd be grounded for a week. But of course it didn't take long for Rodrick to find a loophole.

[Image: A boy talking to the other one who is reading.] The caption reads:

"MONDAY

PL-"

[Image: A boy talking to the other one who is confused.] The caption reads:

"TUESDAY

-OO-"

[Image: A boy talking to the other one sitting in front of the t.v..] The caption reads: "TODAY

-PY!"

121

This isn't the FIRST time Mom has banned us from saying certain words in the house. A while back, Mom made a "no swearing" rule, because Manny was picking up new words left and right.

[Image: The lady looks as the man breaks the cup of tea.]

The caption reads: "

@#$%!

DROP

SMASH

@#$%!

"

Every time someone said a bad word in front of Manny, they had to put a dollar in his "Swear Jar." So Manny was getting rich off of me and Rodrick.

[Image: A Desk with books and a jar of sweets.]

And then Mom upped the ante by banning words like "stupid" and "jerk" and stuff like that.

122

To keep from going bankrupt, me and Rodrick came up with a bunch of code words that meant the same thing as the banned words, and we've been using them ever since.

[Image: A boy talking to the other as the lady looks.] The caption reads:

"SPOOKY STORK!"

Every once in a while, I forget to switch back when I get to school, and I end up looking dumb. Just today, David Nester spit out a piece of gum and it landed in my hair. I really let loose with everything I had, but I don't think I upset David too much.

[Image: The boy is talking to the man sitting on the Swing.] The caption reads: "RASPBERRY PLASTIC TICKLE BEAR!"

123

The other thing that's changed since Easter is that Dad has been on me and Rodrick's case. I guess he's tired of us looking bad in front of his boss, Mr. Warren. Dad made Rodrick enroll in an SAT class, and he made ME sign up for Rec League soccer.

Soccer tryouts were tonight. The coaches lined up all the kids for a "skills test," where you had to dribble the ball between some cones and stuff like that.

I tried my best, but I got ranked "Pre-Alpha Minus," which I'm sure is just adult code words for "You Stink."

[Image: A man talks to a boy playing with a ball.] The caption reads: "I

SAID GO AROUND THE CONES!

DOINK"

124

After the skills test, they put us on different teams. I was hoping I'd get one of those fun coaches who doesn't take sports too seriously, like Mr. Proctor or Mr. Gibb, but I got the worst one out of the whole bunch, Mr. Litch.

Mr. Litch is one of these drill sergeant types who likes to yell a lot. Mr.

Litch used to be Rodrick's coach, and he's pretty much the reason Rodrick doesn't do sports any more.

[Image: A man pointing at something as he talks to the boy.]

The caption reads: "

YOU NEED A HAIRCUT!"

Anyway, our first real practice is tomorrow. Hopefully, I'll just get cut so I can get back to playing video games. Twisted Wizard 2 is supposed to come out soon, and I heard it's AWESOME.

125

Thursday

I got put on a team with a bunch of kids I didn't really know. The first thing

Mr. Litch did was hand out uniforms, and then he told us to come up with a team name.

I suggested that we call our team the "Twisted Wizards," and get the Game

Hut to sponsor us.

[Image: Four children talking.]

Nobody liked my idea, though. One kid said we should call the team the "Red Sox," which I thought was a terrible idea. Number one, the Red Sox are a BASEBALL team, and number two, our soccer uniforms are BLUE.

But of course everyone else LOVED the idea, and that's the name that won out. Then the assistant coach, Mr. Boone, said he was worried that if we called our team the Red Sox, we might get sued.

126

I'm pretty sure those guys have better things to do than to go around suing middle school soccer teams, but like I said before, nobody wanted to listen to MY opinions.

So the team voted to change the name to "Red SOCKS," and that was final.

After that we started practice. Mr. Litch and Mr. Boone made us run laps and do leg-lifts and a bunch of other stuff that had nothing to do with soccer. In between wind sprints, I hung out by the water cooler with the other two Pre-Alpha Minus guys. And every time we were slow getting back to the field, Mr. Litch would yell-

[Image: A man calling the boys to him.] The caption reads: "GET YOUR BUTTS OVER HERE!"

127

Me and the other guys thought it would be pretty funny if the next time Mr. Litch said that, we all ran at him with our butts sticking out.

So the next time Mr. Litch yelled for us to get our butts over there, I ran with my rear end pointed at him. But the other guys TOTALLY hung me out to dry.

[Image: The man looks at the three boys one of them is near him.]

Mr. Litch did not appreciate my sense of humor, and he made me run three extra laps.

When Dad picked me up at the end of practice, I told him that maybe this soccer thing wasn't such a good idea, and that he should probably just let me quit.

128

That made Dad pretty mad, so he said-

[Image: A man and his son in the car.] The caption reads: "NO SON OF MINE IS A QUITTER!"

Which isn't really true at all. I'm a HUGE quitter, and so is Rodrick. And I think Manny is on his third or fourth preschool by now.

Anyway, I got the feeling that if I'm gonna get out of soccer, I'm gonna have to think of another angle.

Friday

Ever since I started playing soccer, I've been going through my clothes twice as quick as I did before. I've been totally out of clean stuff to wear for a while now, so I've been pulling all of my clothes out of my dirty laundry piles. But I found out today that recycling clothes from the dirty laundry pile can be risky.

129

I was walking by some girls in the hallway today, and a pair of dirty underwear fell out of one of my pant legs. I just kept walking and hoped that the girls might think the underwear wasn't actually mine.

[Image: Two girls and a boy going to school.] The caption reads: "HEE HEE HEE!
PLOP"

But I paid the price for THAT decision later on in the day.

[Image: Two boys making fun of the third in the class.] The caption reads: "A PAIR OF BOYS' UNDERPANTS WITH THE NAME "GREG H." WRITTEN ON THE WAISTBAND WAS FOUND IN THE HALLWAY. WOULD THE OWNER PLEASE COME TO THE FRONT OFFICE TO RETRIEVE HIS ARTICLE OF CLOTHING?"

HAR HAR HAR!

HAR HAR!"

130

I think I'd better hurry up and learn how to do my laundry, because I'm really running out of options. Tomorrow I'm gonna have to wear a T-shirt I got from my Uncle Gary's first wedding, and I'm really not looking forward to it.

[Image: A t-shirt with a picture of a kissing couple.] The caption reads:

"Gary and Linda

Everlasting Love

"

I was kind of down in the dumps on the walk home from school today, but then something happened to change that. Rowley told me one of his friends from karate was having a sleepover this weekend, and he asked me if I wanted to come along.

131

I was about to say "no way," but then Rowley said something that got my attention. The kid who's having the party lives on Pleasant Street, which is in the same neighborhood that Holly Hills lives in.

[Image: Two boys with their school bags.]

At lunch today I overheard a couple of girls saying that HOLLY is having a sleepover Saturday night, so this could really be the opportunity of a LIFETIME for me.

[Image: Girls having a pillow fight.]

Tonight at soccer practice, Mr. Litch told everyone the position they'd be playing in the first game on Sunday.

Mr. Litch told me I'd be the "Shag," and that sounded pretty cool to me. So when I got home, I bragged to Rodrick about it.

[Image: A boy talking to the other.] The caption reads: "I'M THE SHAG!"

I thought Rodrick would be impressed, but he just laughed. He told me that Shag wasn't actually a real position on the field-it's just a kid who chases the ball when it goes out of bounds. Then he showed me a rulebook with all the soccer positions, and sure enough, Shag wasn't in it.

[Image: A boy showing the picture to the other.]

Rodrick is always pulling my leg, so I guess I'll just have to wait until this weekend to see if he's telling the truth this time.

Sunday

Remind me to never go to a sleepover with Rowley again.

Yesterday afternoon Mom dropped me and Rowley off at his friend's house.

The first hint that I was in for a long night was when we walked into the house and there wasn't a kid there who was older than six.

My SECOND hint was that everyone was wearing their karate gear.

[Image: Two big boys talking to the three small ones.]

The whole reason I even WENT to this sleepover was so we could all sneak out and crash Holly's slumber party. But Rowley's friends were more interested in "Sesame Street" than they were in girls.

All those guys wanted to do was play a bunch of dopey party games, like Blind Man's Bluff and that kind of thing. I could've been playing Spin the Bottle with Holly Hills, but instead I spent my night trying not to get groped by a bunch of first-graders.

[Image: A boy hides in a book shelf as the other four look for him blindfolded.]

Rowley's friends played some other games, too, like Freeze Tag and Twister.

I excused myself to go upstairs when someone suggested we could play "Who Licked Me?"

I tried calling Mom to come pick me up, but she was out with Dad. So I knew I was stuck at this kid's house for the night.

At about 9:30 I decided to just go to sleep and get the night over with. But those guys came into the bedroom and got into a massive pillow fight. And let me tell you, it's not easy falling asleep when a sweaty little kid falls on you every five seconds.

[Image: Children playing inside a room.]

Eventually the kid's mom came upstairs and told everyone it was time to go to sleep.

136

Even after the lights went out, Rowley and his friends stayed up, talking and giggling. They must have thought I fell asleep, because at one point a bunch of them snuck up on me to try and pull the hand-in-a-bowl-of-warm-water trick.

[Image: Children settling down to sleep in the room.] The caption reads:

"HEE HEE HEE!

SHHHH!"

Well, that was enough for ME. I went downstairs to sleep in the basement, even though it was pitch-black down there and I couldn't find the light. I'd left my sleeping bag upstairs, and that was a mistake, because it was FREEZING in the basement.

I did NOT want to go back upstairs and get my stuff, though. I just curled up in a ball and tried to conserve as much body heat as possible to make it through to the morning.

137

I think it was probably the longest night of my life.

[Image: A boy feeling cold.] The caption reads: "CHATTER CHATTER"

When the sun came up this morning, I found out the reason it was so cold in the basement. I was sleeping right by the sliding glass door, and some fool had gone and left it open overnight.

[Image: A boy outside the house.]

That really stunk, because if I knew there was a way to escape last night, I DEFINITELY would've taken it.

When I got home this morning, I went back to bed until Dad woke me up and told me it was time to go to the soccer game.

138

It turns out Rodrick was right about the Shag thing. I spent the whole game pulling balls out of the brambles, and let me tell you, it wasn't a whole lot of fun.

[Image: A boy looks for his ball in the thorns.] The caption reads: "HURRY

UP!

OUCH!"

Our team won the game, and afterward we were supposed to go out to celebrate. Dad couldn't stick around, so he asked Mr. Litch if he would drive me home afterward.

[Image: Two boys and a man.]

Well, I really wish Dad had asked ME what I thought about that idea first, because I would've just gone home with him.

139

I was starving from all that digging around in the bushes, though, so I figured I'd just go with the team.

We went to a fast-food place, and I ordered twenty chicken nuggets. I went to use the bathroom, and when I came back to the table, all my food was gone. But then Erick Bickford dumped my nuggets out of his big sweaty hands.

[Image: A man talking to two boys.] The caption reads: "HA HA HA!"

If you ever wanted to know why I don't like team sports, there it is in a nutshell.

After lunch was over, me, Kenny Keith, and Erick got into Mr. Litch's car.

Kenny sat in the back with Erick, and I sat up front in the passenger seat.

140

We had to wait a long time because Mr. Litch was sitting on the hood of his car, blabbing away with Mr. Boone. After we'd been sitting there for a while,

Kenny leaned forward from the back seat and laid on the horn for about three seconds.

[Image: A MAN IS HIT BY A CAR DRIVEN BY THREE BOYS.] The

caption reads: "HONK"

Then Kenny jumped back in his seat so when Mr. Litch turned around, it looked like I was the one who honked the horn.

Mr. Litch gave me a dirty look, and then turned back around and talked to his assistant for another half hour.

141

On the way home, Mr. Litch stopped to do about five errands. He wasn't in any hurry to get them done, either.

And get this: Kenny and Erick were mad at ME for making them get home so late. So that should give you a feeling for the type of intelligence I'm dealing with here.

Mr. Litch dropped me off last. On the way up the hill, I saw the Snellas out in their front yard, and it looked like they were trying to get some clips to send in to "America's Funniest Families."

I guess they don't feel like waiting around a few months until Seth's half-birthday party.

[Image: Three boys playing baseball.]

The caption reads: "

I WASN'T TAPING YET!

BAP

CLONK

"

APRIL

Thursday

Today was April 1st, and here's how my day started-

[Image: A boy tries to wake the other from bed.]

The caption reads: "

APRIL FOOL'S!

PUNCH

"

Every other day of the year, you couldn't DRAG Rodrick out of bed before

8:00 A.M. But on April 1st, Rodrick always wakes up early so he can get his licks in.

Someone seriously needs to explain the concept of a practical joke to Rodrick, because all his "jokes" involve me getting injured.

Last year Rodrick bet me fifty cents I couldn't tie my shoes while I was standing up, and I TOTALLY fell for it.

143

[Image: A boy bends as the other points a gun at him.] The caption reads:

"YOU'RE ABOUT TO OWE ME FIFTY CENTS!"

I went inside and told Dad that Rodrick shot me in the butt with a paintball gun. Dad didn't feel like getting in the middle of a fight, so he just told Rodrick to pay me my fifty cents for winning the bet.

Rodrick took two quarters out of his pocket and threw them on the ground.

But obviously I didn't learn my lesson, because I bent over to pick them up.

[Image: A boy hits the other in the stomach with a squirting gun.] The caption reads: "YOW!

ZING

SPLAT"

144

At least I put some thinking into MY practical jokes. Last year I pulled a pretty good trick on Rowley. We were in the bathroom at a movie theater, and I convinced him that some random guy standing at the urinal was a professional athlete.

So Rowley asked the guy for his autograph.

[Image: A man and two boys.]

And today me and a couple of other guys pulled a good one on Chirag Gupta.

We decided it would be pretty funny if we made him think he was losing his hearing, so we all made sure we talked real quiet every time he came around.

145

[Image: boys talking to the one in the center.] The caption reads: "DID YOU

CATCH THE BIG SOCCER MATCH LAST NIGHT?

YES... QUITE A GAME, QUITE A GAME."

Chirag figured out what was going on pretty quick, and he went straight to the teacher to shut it down before the joke could get out of hand. I guess he didn't want a repeat of the Invisible Chirag joke from last year.

Friday
We had our second soccer game tonight. Some adult volunteered to shag the balls, so I got to sit on the bench for the whole game.

It was REALLY cold out, and I asked Dad if I could go get my coat out of the car, but he said no.

146
Dad said I needed to be prepared in case the coach decided to put me in the game, so I had to just tough it out.

I wanted to tell Dad that the only time I'd be stepping foot on the field would be when Mr. Litch made me pick up all the other kids' orange peels at halftime. But I just kept quiet and concentrated on not letting my shin guards freeze to my legs.

[Image: Three boys sitting on the bench.]
Every time Mr. Litch called a huddle, Dad made me get off the bench and go join the rest of the team. Have you seen a game on TV and wondered what the benchwarmers were thinking when they stand in the huddle while the coach goes over the game plan?

147
Well, now I can tell you firsthand.
[Image: The coach instructing the boys team.] The caption reads: "YOU GUYS SMELL."

Once the sun went down, it got REALLY cold. In fact, it got so cold Mackey Creavey and Manuel Gonzales went and got SLEEPING BAGS out of the Creaveys' car.
And Dad STILL wouldn't even let me go get my coat.

[Image: The boy is shivering and the other two are in their sleeping bag.]
148
During a timeout, we all joined the huddle. And when the coach got an eyeful of Mackey and Manuel, he told them they were excused and to go to the Creaveys' car for the rest of the game.

[Image: Two boys hop in their sleeping bag as the coach instructs them.]
The caption reads: "HOP HOP HOP HOP"

So Mackey and Manuel got to sit in a heated SUV, while I had to sit on a cold metal bench in my shorts. And I know for a FACT that the Creaveys have a TV in their car, so I'm sure those guys were totally living it up in there.

[Image: Two boys in their sleeping bag are in the car.]

149

Monday

I have DEFINITELY got to start keeping on top of my laundry. I've been out of clean underwear for about three days, so I've been wearing my bathing suit as a substitute.

Today we had Phys Ed, and when we changed into our gym clothes, I totally forgot I was wearing my Speedo underneath.

[Image: Three boys in the changing room.] The caption reads: "HA HA!

WHUP!

HA HA!"

It could have been a lot WORSE, though. I have a pair of Wonder Woman Underoos that I've never taken out of their wrapper, and this morning I was pretty tempted to wear them just because they were clean.

150

Believe me, I didn't ASK for the Wonder Woman Underoos, either. This past summer a few of my relatives asked Mom what I wanted for my birthday, and she told them I was really into comics and super heroes.

So the Underoos were a gift from Uncle Charlie.

[Image: A boy and a man on Christmas.]

We had another soccer game after school, but it's been getting a lot warmer lately, and I wasn't worried about the cold.

At school, me, Mackey, and Manuel agreed we'd all bring some video games tonight, and for the first time we actually ENJOYED ourselves at soccer.

151

[Image: Three boys sitting on the bench in the sun.]

It didn't last long, though. Twenty minutes into the game, Mr. Litch called all three of us off the bench and told us to get on the field.

[Image: The coach and the three boys.] The caption reads: "CREAVEY!

HEFFLEY!

GONZALES!"

Apparently, some parent complained that their kid wasn't getting any playing time, so the Rec League made a rule that now EVERY kid has to get in the game.

152

Well, none of us had been paying any attention to the game, so when we got on the field, we didn't know what to do or where to stand.

A couple of kids on our team told us the other team had a "free kick," and that we were supposed to stand shoulder to shoulder to make a shield to block it.

I thought the guys on my team were joking, but it turns out they weren't. Me, Manuel, and Mackey had to line up in front of our goal. Then the referee blew the whistle, and a kid from the other team ran at the ball and kicked it right at us.

[Image: A boy hits the ball aiming it at the boys.] The caption reads:

"TWEET!"

153

Well, we didn't do a really good job of protecting the goal, and the other team scored.

[Image: Boys playing football.]

Mr. Litch pulled the three of us out of the game the second he got the chance, and he yelled at us for not standing still and blocking the ball.

[Image: The coach is angry at his team.]

But I'll tell you what: If I have to choose between getting yelled at or getting hit in the face with a soccer ball, it's no contest.

154

Thursday

After the game last week, I asked Mr. Litch if I could be the backup goalie for the team, and he said I could.

It was a genius move on my part, for a couple of reasons. First of all, goalies don't have to run laps and all that stuff during practice. They just do individual goalie drills with the assistant coach.

Second, goalies wear different uniforms than the rest of the team, and that means Mr. Litch can't put me in the game when it's time to block free kicks.

[Image: The coach and the three boys.] The caption reads: "CREAVEY!

GONZALES!"

155

Our regular goalie, Tucker Fox, is the star of the team, so I knew there was no way I was gonna see any playing time, anyway. These last few games have actually been kind of FUN. But tonight, something bad happened. Tucker hurt his hand diving after a ball, and he had to come out. So that meant the coach had to put ME in.

Well, Dad was REALLY excited I was finally getting some real playing time, and he came down to my end of the field to coach me from the sideline. It's not like I really needed it, though. Our team kept the ball on the other side of the field for the whole rest of the game, and I didn't even touch it ONCE.

[Image: A boy talking to the goal keeper.] The caption reads: "MAKE SURE YOU BEND YOUR KNEES, GREG!"

156

I think I know what Dad was up to, though.

When I used to play tee-ball, I had a really hard time concentrating on the game. Tonight Dad just wanted to make sure I didn't get distracted the way I used to get when I played right field.

[Image: A boy playing in the garden as a ball fall beside him.] The caption reads: "QUIT PLAYING IN THE TULIPS!

PUFF

DOINK"

I have to admit, it was probably a good thing that Dad stayed on my case tonight.

There were about a MILLION dandelions down at my end of the field, and in the second half I was starting to get a little twitchy.

157

Monday

Well, yesterday we had another soccer game, and luckily Dad wasn't there to see it. We lost our first game of the season, 1-0. Somehow the other team got the ball past me in the last few seconds, and they won the game. So that ruined our perfect record.

After the game, everyone on my team was in a sour mood, so I tried to cheer them up.

[Image: A team of boys.] The caption reads: "WELL, IT'S JUST A STUPID GAME, RIGHT, FELLAS?"

My teammates thanked me for being positive by pelting me with orange peels.

Back at home, I was nervous to tell Dad about the game.

158

I guess he seemed a little disappointed, but he got over it pretty quick.

[Image: A man with his son sitting on the bed.] The caption reads: "DID YOU BEND YOUR KNEES?

MM HMM."

But tonight, when Dad got home from dinner, he looked really mad. He plopped the newspaper down in front of me on the kitchen table, and here was the picture on the Sports page-

[Image: A boy sitting in the garden.]

The caption reads: "

A "Blown" Opportunity

Red Socks goalie Gregory Heffley takes a break from the action as a fifty-yard kick by Demon Dawgs midfielder James Byron rolls in. The score ended the Socks' bid for an undefeated season."

159

Apparently, Dad found out about the paper from his boss at work.

[Image: The men are talking to the boy.] The caption reads: "GREAT SON

YOU GOT THERE, FRANK!"

OK, so maybe I didn't tell Dad ALL the details of the game.

In my defense, though, I didn't really know what happened until I read about it in the paper myself.

Dad didn't say a word to me for the rest of the night. If he's still mad at me, I just hope he gets over it pretty quick. Twisted Wizard 2 finally came out today, and I'm kind of counting on Dad to float me some money so I can get it.

160

Friday

Tonight after dinner, Dad took me and Rodrick out to a movie. It's not because he was trying to be nice, though. He just needed to get out of the house.

Remember how I told you that Mom got on an exercise kick a few months ago? Well, she quit after her first class. Dad took a picture of Mom decked out in all her exercise gear the first day she went to the gym, and tonight the pictures came in the mail.

[Image: A lady is standing.]

The photo place gives you duplicate prints, so as a joke Dad wrote labels on the two pictures of Mom and put them up on the refrigerator.

161

[Image: A BEFORE and an AFTER photograph of a lady.] The caption reads: "BEFORE AFTER"

Well, Dad was pretty proud of himself for coming up with that one, but Mom wasn't so amused.

[Image: A man and a lady walking in side.] The caption reads: "HEH HEH."

Anyway, I guess Dad felt like maybe it was a good idea to put a little space between him and Mom tonight.

162

We went to the new movie theater that just opened at the mall. After we bought our tickets, we went inside and gave them to the usher, who was a teenager with a crew cut. I didn't recognize him at first, but apparently Dad did.

[Image: A man talking to the three boys.] The caption reads: "YOUR TICKETS, SIR."

I read the teenager's name tag, and I couldn't believe my eyes. It was LENWOOD HEATH, the bad teenager who used to live on our street. The last I saw him, he had long hair and he was lighting someone's trash on fire. But now here he was, looking like he just graduated from the Air Force or something.

163

Dad seemed REALLY impressed with Lenwood's new look, and the two of them struck up a conversation.

Lenwood said he's been going to Spag Union Military Academy, and he's just working at the movie theater for Spring Break. Then Lenwood said he's trying to get good grades at Spag Union so he can get into West Point.

And all of a sudden Dad was treating Lenwood like his new best friend.

Which was really crazy, especially considering the history between the two of them.

[Image: A girl running away from a boy and two men near a table.] The caption reads: "BEFORE

AFTER"

164

Anyway, Dad kept chatting away with Lenwood, so me and Rodrick just got our popcorn and went in the theater. And it wasn't until halfway through the movie that I realized what was REALLY happening.

If Dad saw how military school could make a man out of a juvenile delinquent like Lenwood Heath, then it wasn't a stretch to think it could make a man out of a wimp like ME.

I'm just praying Dad isn't having those thoughts. Right now I'm pretty concerned, because after the movie tonight, Dad was in the best mood I've seen him in for a LONG time.

[Image: A man and two boys walking to the car.]

165

Monday

Well, it's just like I feared. Dad spent the whole weekend reading up on Spag Union, and tonight he told me he's gonna sign me up.

[Image: A man and an boy at a table.]

Here's the worst part: "New recruits" have to report on June 7th, when I'm supposed to be on summer VACATION.

Dad tried to convince me that this would be a great thing for me, and how Spag Union would really whip me into shape. But going off to boot camp was NOT the way I was planning on spending my school break.

I told Dad I won't last a DAY at Spag Union. First of all, they mix kids my age in with teenagers, and that can't be a good thing.

166

I'm sure the older kids would single me out on the first day.

[Image: Two men a boy in the bathroom.] The caption reads: "WIMP!

SNAP"

But what I'm actually a lot more concerned with is the bathroom situation.

I'll bet Spag Union is one of these places that has open showers with no stall doors, and that kind of setup is not for me.

[Image: Three people in the shower.]

When it comes to the bathroom, I need my privacy. I don't even use the bathroom at school unless it's an absolute emergency.

167

A few classrooms in our school have bathrooms right in them, but I can't even use those, because every little sound you make is broadcast to the whole room.

[Image: Two girls sitting outside a door.] The caption reads: "HEE HEE HEE HEE!
HEE HEE!
SQUORK"

The only other option is to use the cafeteria bathroom, and that place is a complete madhouse. Somebody got the idea a few weeks ago to start throwing wet toilet paper around, so now that place is like a war zone.

[Image: Boys playing in the bathroom with wet toilet paper.] The caption reads: "SPLAT!

BAP"

168

I can't concentrate in that kind of an environment, so I basically have to hold it until I get home from school.

A couple of days ago, something happened that changed the situation. The janitor put some new air fresheners in the bathroom.

[Image: An Air freshener.]

I started a rumor that the air fresheners were actually security cameras to catch whoever was throwing the wet toilet paper.

[Image: Three boys outside the boys loo.] The caption reads: "BOYS"

I guess I must've told the right people, because from that point on the cafeteria bathroom has been quieter than the library.

169

[Image: Three boys in the rest room.]

I might've solved the bathroom problem at school, but I don't think I'm gonna be able to pull off the same kind of trick at Spag Union. And I SERIOUSLY doubt I can hold it for the whole summer.

I knew I wasn't gonna convince Dad to change his mind, so I went to Mom. I told her I didn't want to go to a place where they make you shave your head and do push-ups each day at 5:00 every morning. I figured she'd agree with me and talk some sense into Dad.

170

But it looks like Mom isn't gonna be any help to me after all.

[Image: A lady and a boy.] The caption reads: "I THINK YOU'D LOOK SO HANDSOME IN A UNIFORM!"

Wednesday

I knew I needed to do something quick to convince Dad that I was tough and didn't NEED to go to military academy. So I told him I wanted to join the Boy Scouts.

Dad seemed really enthusiastic about the idea, so that was a relief.

Besides trying to find a way to get Dad off my back, I have a couple of other reasons for wanting to join the Boy Scouts. Number one, Boy Scout meetings are on Sundays, so that means I can quit soccer.

171

And number two, it's about time I start getting some respect from the other kids at school.

[Image: Two boys salute the third one.] The caption reads: "ATTENSHUN! AS YOU WERE, GENTLEMEN!"

There are actually TWO Boy Scout troops in my town: Troop 24, which is right in our neighborhood, and Troop 133, which is about five miles down the road. Troop 133 is always having hot dog roasts and pool parties and stuff like that, but Troop 24 is constantly out doing community service projects on the weekends.

So I'm definitely more of a Troop 133 kind of guy.

Now the trick is to make sure Dad doesn't find out about Troop 24, because he'll make me sign up with them for SURE.

172

In fact, tonight we were driving to the mall, and we passed Troop 24 cleaning up the park. Luckily, I distracted Dad at the last second.

[Image: Two boys in a car.] The caption reads: "LOOK! A BALD EAGLE! WHERE? WHERE?"

Sunday

Today was my first Boy Scout meeting, and luckily it was with Troop 133. I got Rowley to sign up with me, too. When we got to the lodge, we met Mr. Barrett, the Scoutmaster. He asked me and Rowley to say the Pledge of Allegiance and do a bunch of other stuff, and we were in. Mr. Barrett even gave us our uniforms.

Rowley was happy because he thought the uniform was cool, but I was just happy to have a clean shirt for a change.

173

[Image: Two boys holding the clothes.]

After we put our uniforms on, we joined the rest of the troop and started working on merit badges. Merit badges are these little patches you get for learning how to do all sorts of manly stuff.

Me and Rowley started flipping through the merit badge book to see what we should work on.

Rowley wanted to do something hard like Wilderness Survival or Personal

Fitness, but I talked him out of it. I said we should just start off with something nice and easy, so we settled on Whittling.

But whittling was a lot harder than I thought it would be. It took FOREVER to try to carve a block of wood into anything, and Rowley got a splinter within five minutes.

174

So we went to Mr. Barrett and asked him if there was something less

DANGEROUS we could do.

[Image: Two boys talking to the professor.]

Mr. Barrett said that if we were having trouble with the wood, maybe we could use soap instead. And that's when I knew I made the right call when I signed up with Troop 133.

Me and Rowley started carving the soap, but then I found out something really great. If you get the soap wet enough, you can just mold it into any shape you want with your hands. So we put away our whittling knives and SQUEEZED our soap into a shape instead.

[Image: Two boys sitting at a table.] The caption reads: "SQUISH SQUISH"

175

My first creation was a sheep. I turned it in to Mr. Barrett, and he checked one carving off my list.

[Image: A molded figure.]

I didn't really know what to do for my next carving, so I just turned my sheep upside down and handed it back in as the Titanic.

[Image: A molded figure upside down.]

And believe it or not, Mr. Barrett accepted THAT one, too.

[Image: A man talking to the boys.] The caption reads: "A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY, THAT WAS!"

176

So me and Rowley both got our Whittling merit badges and pinned them to our uniforms. When I came home, Dad was really impressed. If I would've known that this was all it took to make him happy, I would have signed up for Boy Scouts about six months ago.

[Image: A man opens the door for the boy.]

MAY

Sunday

The other day Mr. Barrett announced that our Boy Scout troop was having a father-son campout this weekend, so I asked Dad if he'd go with me. I was pretty surprised with how easy it was to impress Dad with that one little merit badge, so I figured a whole WEEKEND of him seeing me do macho stuff would totally blow him away.

But yesterday morning I woke up as sick as a dog. I couldn't go, but Dad HAD to, because he signed up to be a driver.

[Image: A man looks at the boy in bed.]

I stayed in bed pretty much the whole day. I just wish I'd gotten sick on a WEEKDAY instead of a weekend. Last year I didn't miss any days of school, and I promised myself I wouldn't let THAT happen again.

[Image: Two children laughing at the third one.] The caption reads:

"CONGRATULATIONS TO GREG HEFFLEY FOR WINNING THE PERFECT ATTENDANCE AWARD.

NERD!

HA HA!"

178

The father-son camping trip turned out to be a DISASTER. The phone rang at 10:00 last night, and it was Dad calling from the emergency room.

[Image: The doctor is talking on the phone with a lady, a sick boy is standing behind her.]

Dad got put in a tent with the Woodley brothers, Darren and Marcus, because their dad couldn't come. Darren and Marcus were horsing around in the tent, even though Dad kept telling them to go to sleep. At one point Darren threw a football at Marcus, and it hit him in the stomach.

[Image: Two boys playing ball as he third sleeps on the ground.] The caption reads: "OOF!"

179

Marcus wet his pants, and I guess Darren thought that was pretty funny.

[Image: Three boys, one is sleeping.] The caption reads: "HA HA HA!"

Well, Marcus went totally BERSERK. He bit Darren, and he wouldn't let go, either.

[Image: The two boys are falling on the sleeping boy.] The caption reads:

"CHOMP"

It took Dad a long time to pry the two of them apart, and he had to take Darren to the emergency room after that.

180

Dad came home this morning, and he was not real happy with ME for getting him stuck in that situation. Something tells me that after this weekend, he's not a real big fan of Troop 133, either.

Sunday

Today was Mother's Day, and I didn't have anything to give to Mom.

I was going to ask Dad to take me to the store so I could at least get Mom a card or something, but Dad was still recovering from the father-son campout. And

I don't think he was looking to do me any favors, anyway.

[Image: A boy looks at the person in bed.]

So I had to come up with a homemade gift.

181

Last year I made Mom a "Chore Coupon" book for Mother's Day. Each coupon had something like "One free lawn mowing" or "One free window washing" on it.

[Image: A board of a CAR WASH]

The caption reads: "

One free car wash"

I give Dad a Chore Coupon book just about every Father's Day, and it always works out great. It's a way for me to take care of my gift obligation without having to spend any money, and Dad never actually uses any of his coupons in the book.

[Image: A boy looks at the man sitting on the sofa.] The caption reads:

"HUH? OH, UM, THANKS."

182

Mom cashed in every single ONE of HER coupons last year. So I didn't want to make the same mistake this year.

[Image: A boy come out of the door and the lady looks at him.] The caption reads: "I'M GOING UP TO ROWLEY'S TO PLAY VIDEO GAMES!

RIGHT AFTER YOUR POLISH ALL THE SILVERWARE!"

I tried to think of something original to make for Mom today, but I ran out of time. So I ended up just piggybacking on Manny's gift.

[Image: A drawing with a boy with specks in it.] The caption reads: "TO

MOMMY FROM MANNY GREG"

183

Monday

I figure the best way to get Dad to forget that father-son camping mess is to have a do-over. So tonight at dinner, I asked Dad if he wanted to go on a camping trip, just me and him.

I've been studying up on my Boy Scouts manual, and I'm pretty eager to show off what I've learned.

[Image: Two boys at a camping site.]

Well, Dad didn't exactly jump at my offer, but Mom thought it was a GREAT idea. She said we should go this weekend and that Rodrick could go, too.

She said it would be a great "bonding" experience for the three of us.

184

I wasn't too enthusiastic about that idea, and neither was Rodrick.

[Image: A family at the dining table.]

In fact, one of the reasons I wanted to get out of the house this weekend is because me and Rodrick are in a fight.

Last night Mom was giving Rodrick a haircut in the Kitchen. Usually when Mom gives us boys a haircut, she puts a towel around our necks so the hair doesn't get all over our clothes. But yesterday Mom used one of her old maternity dresses instead of a towel. So when I saw Rodrick like that, I knew I had to take advantage of the situation.

[Image: the lady cuts the boy's hair as the other clicks snaps.]

The caption reads: "

FLASH

SNIP

"

185

I ran upstairs and locked myself in the bathroom before Rodrick had a chance to catch me and take the camera. And I didn't come back out until I was sure he was gone.

Rodrick got me back, anyway. Last night I had a nightmare that I was sleeping on a nest of red ants, and that was thanks to him.

[Image: A boy shakes the dirt from the cloth on to the bed.] The caption reads: "SHAKE"

The way I see it, now we're even. But if there's one thing I've learned about Rodrick, it's that he's still not gonna let it go. So that's why I'm not that eager to hole up in a tent with him for the weekend.

Saturday

Today me, Dad, and Rodrick headed off on our camping trip. I picked a place that had a lot of manly activities that you could do.

186

On the way to the campground, the sky got dark, and then it started to rain. I wasn't all that concerned, because our tent is waterproof, and Mom packed ponchos for everybody. But by the time we got to our campsite, it was six inches underwater.

[Image: A family in a car in the rain.] The caption reads: "SITE 8"

We were pretty far from home, so Dad decided we should just find a place to stay for the night.

I was really bummed, because the whole point of the trip was for me to impress Dad with my camping skills, and now we were just gonna stay in some stupid hotel room.

187

Dad found a place and got a room with two beds and a pullout couch. We watched TV for a while and then started getting ready for bed.

First, Dad went downstairs to the front desk to complain that the heater was too loud, so I was alone in the room with Rodrick.

I went into the bathroom to brush my teeth, and when I came out, Rodrick was looking out the peephole. Then he said something that made me freeze in my tracks.

He said that Holly Hills and her family were out in the hallway, and they were staying in the room right ACROSS from us.

[Image: A boy tries to listen from the door as the other stands.]

188

I had to see this for myself. So I moved him out of the way and looked out the peephole.

The hallway was completely empty. And before I realized it was a trick, Rodrick gave me a big shove, and I fell out the door.

[Image: A boy pushes the other in the door.] The caption reads: "PUSH"

Then it got WORSE. Rodrick locked the door behind me, and I was stuck in the hallway wearing nothing but my tighty whities.

[Image: A boy sits on the floor.] The caption reads: "CLICK"

189

I pounded on the door, but Rodrick wouldn't let me back in the room.

I was making a big racket, and I realized people in the nearby rooms were gonna start opening their doors to find out what was going on. So I ran around the corner to save myself the embarrassment of anyone seeing me. I spent about fifteen minutes sneaking through the hallways, hiding every time I heard voices.

[Image: A boy looks scared as he enters.]

I was gonna go back to our room and beg Rodrick to let me in, but then I realized I didn't even know our ROOM number. And all the doors looked exactly the same to me.

190

I couldn't exactly go down to the front desk, either. The only option I really had was to try and find Dad.

Then I remembered: Dad is a junk-food addict. I knew he'd eventually turn up at the vending machines, so that's where I camped out.

I wedged myself in between the soda machine and the candy machine and waited. I had to wait a really long time, but Dad finally did show up.

[Image: A boy hides behind a soda vending machine and a man is in front of it.] The caption reads: "HI."

You know what, though? After seeing the look on Dad's face, I kind of wished I'd just sucked it up and gone to the front desk instead.

191

Sunday

Well, after our camping trip, I'm pretty sure there's no chance I can convince Dad to change his mind about Spag Union. So at this point, I'm not even gonna bother trying.

I realized there are only about three more weeks before I get shipped out, so I figure this is my last chance to make a play for Holly Hills. If I'm lucky, maybe I can take some good memories with me to military academy, and my summer won't be so bad.

[Image: A man scolding the three boys.] The caption reads: "WHAT ARE YOU SMILING ABOUT, PRIVATE?"

SMOOCH
HEH HEH."

192

I've been working up the nerve to talk to Holly for a long time, and I decided it was now or never.

When we went to church today, I tried to make sure we sat right near the Hills family. But we ended up two rows in front of them, which I guess was close enough. And during the part where everybody shakes hands with one another, I made my move.

[Image: Two children playing as they sit in the church .] The caption reads:

"PEACE BE WITH YOU, HOLLY ELIZABETH HILLS.

SHAKE SHAKE"

The hand-shaking thing was actually just step one in a two-part plan, and the second part would come tonight. My next step was to call Holly on the phone and use the hand-shaking thing to get the conversation started.

193

[Image: Two talking on the phone.] The caption reads: "HI, HOLLY, THIS

IS GREG HEFFLEY. YOU MIGHT REMEMBER ME FROM A VERY

SPECIAL "PEACE BE WITH YOU."

(BLUSH)"

At dinner tonight, I told everyone that I needed to make a very important call, so everyone should stay off the phone. But I guess Rodrick must've figured out I was gonna call a girl, because he took all the handsets and hid them.

That meant the only way to make a call was to use the speakerphone in the kitchen, but there was no chance of THAT happening.

[Image: A boy is sitting behind the desk and another is standing in the front.]

194

I told Mom that Rodrick took all the phones, and she made him return them to where they belonged.

Eventually, Rodrick went down to the basement. Later on I snuck into Mom and Dad's room to make my call. I turned off the lights so Rodrick wouldn't know I was in there, and I hid under a blanket. Then I waited for about twenty minutes to make sure he hadn't followed me.

Before I had a chance to dial Holly's number, someone walked in the room and turned on the light. I thought for SURE it was Rodrick.

But it wasn't. It was DAD.

[Image: A man enters a room to find an empty bed.] The caption reads:

"CLICK"

195

I decided to stay perfectly still and let Dad get whatever he needed and leave.

But Dad didn't leave. He got into bed and started reading a BOOK.

I should have just uncovered myself the second Dad walked in the room, because now I couldn't just get up and walk out or I'd give him a heart attack. So I decided to just sneak out of the room real slow.

I moved about an inch a second. I figured it would take me about a half hour to make it all the way out of the room, but there would still be enough time to call Holly after that.

[Image: A boy reads in bed.] The caption reads: "CIVIL WAR

SCOOT SCOOT"

196

I was only about five feet from the bedroom door when the phone in my hand rang and scared the living daylights out of me.

[Image: Something crawls out from under the bed to scare the boy.]

The caption reads: "

SCREAM!

RING

SCREAM!

CIVIL WAR

"

I think Dad really DID almost have a heart attack. And once he recovered, he didn't look happy to see me.

Dad made me get out of his room, and then he slammed the door.

I'm sure this episode didn't help my standing with Dad, but I guess at this point it's probably too late, anyway.

197

Tuesday

Two days have already passed since I shook hands with Holly, and I didn't want any more time to go by before I spoke with her again.

Luckily, Dad and Rodrick weren't home tonight, so I knew I could make a phone call without being bothered. I practiced what I was going to say about a million times, and then I finally worked up the nerve to make the call.

[Image: A boy sits on a bed.]

I dialed Holly's number, and the phone started ringing. But right then Mom picked up the phone downstairs.

Mom has this REALLY bad habit of just dialing without checking to see if anyone else is using the phone, and that's what she did tonight.

198

I tried to stop her, but it was no use.

[Image: A lady looks at the phone in her hand.] The caption reads: "BEEP

BOOP BEEP

MOM!

BOOP BEEP BEEP

MOM!"

The phone kept ringing at the Hills's house, and then someone picked up. It was Holly's mother.

Mom was really confused, since she didn't dial the Hills's number in the first place. I just held my breath and waited for it all to be over.

[Image: A lady and a boy talk on phone.] The caption reads: "HELLO?

HELLO? WHO'S THIS?"

199

It took Mom and Mrs. Hills a minute to figure out who was on the other end of the line. But once they did, they just started chatting like nothing strange had happened at all.

They got into this long conversation about the PTA and the fundraising committee and stuff like that. I couldn't really hang up, because then Mom would hear the click and know someone was on the other end.

Eventually, the conversation between Mom and Mrs. Hills turned to me.

[Image: A lady and a boy talk on phone.] The caption reads: "...CALLED

HIS BROTHER A "PLOOPY." MM HMM..."

At that point I just put the phone down and went to bed. I figure that a phone call between me and Holly isn't meant to be, so I'm officially giving up.

200

Friday

Today at school I overheard Holly tell a couple of her friends that she was gonna meet them at the rollerskating rink tonight, and a lightbulb went on over my head.

After school I asked Mom if she'd take me to the Roll-a-Round tonight, and she said yes but I'd have to get a ride home from someone else's parents. So I invited Rowley along.

As soon as Rowley showed up at my front door, I knew I made a mistake inviting him.

[Image: A boy opens the door to find another boy.]

Rowley had his hair all teased up, and he was dressed just like his favorite singer, Joshie.

201

And I think Rowley might have even been wearing sparkly lip gloss, but I can't say for sure. I couldn't stop to worry about the way Rowley looked, though, because I had my OWN problems. Earlier on I had lost one of my contact lenses, so that meant I had to wear my backup glasses. The lenses on those things are about three inches thick, and they look RIDICULOUS.

If I'm not wearing my contact lenses or my glasses, I'm as blind as a bat. I guess I should just feel lucky that I wasn't alive during caveman times, because I wouldn't have been able to hunt or do anything useful. I'm sure my tribe-mates would've ditched me the first chance they got.

[Image: A boy and two men in the open.] The caption reads: "IS THIS WHERE YOU GUYS SAW THAT ALBINO WOOLLY MAMMOTH?

BLINK BLINK

ZOW

ZIP"

202

I probably would've had to become a wise man or something just to make everyone think I was worth keeping around.

On the ride to the rollerskating rink tonight, I gave Rowley some instructions on how to behave if I got into a conversation with Holly Hills-knowing him, he could seriously hurt my chances with her.

[Image: Two boys talking.]

I wish I had waited until we were out of the car, because Mom overheard our conversation.

[Image: Two ladies and a boy in the car.] The caption reads: "HOLLY HILLS? HOLLY HILLS WAS THE ONLY FOUR-YEAR-OLD AT PRESCHOOL WHO WASN'T POTTY TRAINED.

LA LA LA... I CAN'T HEAR YOU!"

203

When we pulled up at the Roll-a-Round, I got out of the car before Mom could say anything ELSE I didn't want to hear.

Me and Rowley paid our admission and then went inside. We rented our skates and brought them over to the arcade area, where I scoped out the whole scene.

I spotted Holly over by the snack bar. She was with a bunch of her friends, so I wasn't ready to go and talk to her just yet.

At 9:00 the DJ announced "Couples Skate." A lot of people were pairing up, and Holly was sitting at a table, all alone. I knew this was the chance I was waiting for.

[Image: A girls sits and sips her drink.]

204

I started making my way over to her, but getting around on skates was a LOT harder than I thought it would be. I had to hug the wall just to stay on my feet.

[Image: A boy is freaked out.]

It was taking FOREVER, and I realized the song was gonna be over by the time I got to Holly. So I got down on my butt and scooted over to her to speed things up.

[Image: A boy is sitting on the floor as people walk past.] The caption reads:

"SCOOCH SCOOCH"

I almost got run over a couple of times, but I finally made it to the snack bar.

205

Holly was still there, sitting by herself. Time was running out, so I had to take a shortcut through a puddle of soda to get to her.

On my way across the snack bar, I tried to work out what I was going to say to Holly. I realized I wasn't looking my coolest at that moment, so I knew I was gonna have to say something pretty smooth to make up for it. But before I even had a chance to open my mouth, Holly said four words that changed everything-

[Image: A girl at the table talks to the boy on the floor.]

The caption reads: "

ISN'T YOUR NAME "FREGLEY"?"

I started to tell her I was Greg Heffley, the guy from the "Doggie Dropped It" joke, but right then Couples Skate ended, and Holly's friends swooped in and pulled her out onto the rink.

206

I made my way back to the arcade, and that's where I stayed for the rest of the night. Because believe me, I was NOT in the mood for skating.

[Image: Two boys sitting .]

The caption reads: "

CAN I GO GET A SODA?

NO.

"

You know, I probably should've realized a long time ago that Holly wasn't worth my time. Somebody who would mistake ME for FREGLEY definitely has something wrong with them.

I'm officially DONE with girls. I should just ask Dad to see if Spag Union has early admission, because there's really no point in me sticking around here anymore.

207

J

UNE

Friday

Today was the last day of school, and everybody was in a good mood but me. Everyone ELSE is looking forward to having fun this summer, but all I've got to look forward to is sit-ups and marching drills.

At lunch, everyone handed their yearbooks around for people to sign, and when I got mine back, here's what was on the last page-

[Image: A note.] The caption reads: "Don't be a fool Be cool Slick"

At first I couldn't figure out who "Slick" was, but then I realized it was just Rowley. A couple of days ago, Rowley was standing near an older kid's locker, and the guy wanted Rowley to move.

208

So here's what the guy said-

[Image: A big boy warning the other.] The caption reads: "STEP AWAY FROM MY LOCKER, SLICK."

So I guess now Rowley thinks "Slick" is his permanent nickname or something. I just hope he doesn't expect ME to say it.

I flipped through the pages to see who else signed my yearbook, and there was one that made me stop in my tracks. It was from Holly Hills.

First of all, she wrote my actual name, so that means she figured out who I was since Friday night. And second, she wrote "K.I.T." at the end, which everyone knows means "Keep in Touch." You'd better BELIEVE I'm gonna take her up on her offer.

209

[Image: A note.] The caption reads: "Greg, I don't really know you all that well, but you seem O.K., I guess.

K.I.T.

Holly"

I handed my yearbook to Rowley to show him what Holly wrote. But then he showed me what she wrote in HIS yearbook, and it kind of made her note to me look lame.

[Image: A boy showing a note to the other boy.] The caption reads: "Dear Rowley, you are so adorable & funny! I hope we have the same homeroom next year. Stay cute!

Love, Holly"

210

A couple of minutes later, Holly's yearbook came around, and I had a chance to sign it. So here's what I put-

[Image: A note.] The caption reads: "Dear Holly-

You are a nice person and all, but I only think of you as a friend.

From, Slick"

The way I see it, I just did Rowley a HUGE favor. I don't want to see him get his heart stomped on by Holly Hills, because the truth is, girls can be a little cruel sometimes.

Saturday

Today was my only day of summer vacation, and I had to spend it at Seth Snella's half-birthday party. I asked Mom to let me stay home so I could enjoy myself, but she said we were going to the party as a family.

211

Dad didn't even bother fighting it, because he knew HE wasn't getting out of it, either.

So at 1:00 we walked across the street to the Snellas' house.

[Image: Children walking in a line with their food trays.]

The Snellas really did it up this year. They had a clown making balloon animals, and a moon bounce for the kids.

They even had live music. Rodrick was pretty sore over that because his band, Löded Diper, tried out for the job, but the Snellas turned them down.

Everyone ate lunch, and then at 3:30 the main event started.

212

Mr. and Mrs. Snella had all the adults line up in front of Seth, and they all took turns trying to make him smile. Mr. Henrich went first.

[Image: A man playing with the baby as the family looks.] The caption reads: "SQUAWK!

SQUAWK!"

I noticed Dad looking really nervous at the back of the line. At one point I walked by Dad to get myself some cupcakes, and he stopped me. He told me if I could get him out of this situation, he'd owe me BIG-time.

[Image: A man ask for food from the boy.]

213

I thought it was pretty ironic that Dad would be asking ME for a favor, especially since he's the one who's shipping me off to military school tomorrow. So I was fine with letting him squirm.

But that doesn't mean I wanted to see my Dad acting like a baboon in front of the whole neighborhood, either. I thought about sneaking home to spare myself the shame.

That's when I saw Manny on the other side of the deck, poking around Seth's presents.

[Image: A table with the toys.] The caption reads: "TOSS"

Manny found the present that was from OUR family, and he ripped it open.

As soon as I saw what it was, I knew things were about to get real complicated.

214

It was a blue knit blanket, just like the one MANNY used to have as a baby.

And you could tell Manny thought he had found himself a brand-new Tingy.

[Image: A boy throws down things from the table.]

I went over to Manny and told him he was gonna have to hand over the blanket because it was for the baby, not him. But Manny wouldn't cough it up.

[Image: A boy tries to talk to the little boy.]

When Manny realized I was gonna take away the blanket, he just turned around and chucked it over the railing.

215

The blanket landed in the branch of a tree. I knew I had to get it back before Mom found out, so I got down off the deck and started climbing up the tree.

[Image: A boy is climbing a tree to get the cloth.]

Right when I was about to grab the blanket, my foot slipped, and I was left hanging there. I tried to pull myself back up, but I didn't have the strength.

I probably would've been able to do it, but the only thing I had to eat today was a grape soda and the frosting off of a piece of cake, so I had no energy.

216

I yelled for help, but I really wish I didn't call attention to myself. Because right when everyone came over to see what was going on, my pants came loose and fell down around my ankles.

It wouldn't have happened if I was wearing my OWN pants. But I never washed my dress pants after they got that chocolate all over them, so I was borrowing a pair of RODRICK's pants, which were about two sizes too big on me.

The situation was humiliating enough, but then I realized something even WORSE. I was wearing my Wonder Woman Underoos.

[Image: The people look at the boy hanging from a branch.]

217

Eventually, Dad ran over and helped get me down, but not before Mr. Snella got the whole thing on tape. And something tells me that this time around, he has a good shot at the "America's Funniest Families" Grand Prize.

After that, Dad hustled me home, and I thought he was gonna be really mad at me. But it turns out that my accident happened right when Dad was next up to go in front of Seth Snella, so I saved him from having to take his turn.

And get this: Dad thinks I FAKED the whole thing to bail him out.

[Image: A man pats his son's back.] The caption reads: "THAT'S MY SON!"

SLAP"

I wasn't about to correct him, either. I made myself a big bowl of ice cream, sat down in front of the TV, and tried to enjoy the rest of my one day of freedom as best I could.

218

Sunday

When I woke up this morning, it was a quarter past 11:00. I couldn't figure out why I was still in bed, because Dad was supposed to drive me to Spag Union at 8:00.

[Image: A boy sleeping.] The caption reads: "BLINK BLINK"

So I went downstairs. Dad was sitting at the kitchen table reading the paper, and he wasn't even dressed yet.

[Image: A boy walks towards the man at the table.] The caption reads: "SIP"

219

When I walked into the kitchen, Dad told me we could "rethink" this military academy thing. He said maybe I could just do some push-ups and sit-ups every once in a while, and that would be just as good as the summer conditioning program at Spag Union.

I couldn't believe my ears. I guess Dad felt like he owed me for saving him yesterday, and this was his way of paying me back.

I walked out of the house and went up to Rowley's before Dad could change his mind. And on my way up the hill, I realized that I was on summer vacation.

[Image: The boy whistles as he walks on the road.] The caption reads:

"TWEET TWEET"

220

I knocked on Rowley's door, and when he answered, I told him I didn't have to go to Spag Union AFTER all.

[Image: A boy opens the door for his friend.]

Rowley didn't even know what I was talking about, so that just shows you how clueless he can be sometimes.

We played Rowley's Twisted Wizard 2 for a while, and then his parents kicked us out of the house. So we grabbed some popsicles and went and sat on his front curb.

You'll never BELIEVE what happened next. A really cute girl I had never seen before walked up to us and introduced herself.

221

She said her name was Trista and that she just moved in down the street.

[Image: A girl greets the boys as they sit on the pavement.] The caption reads: "HI!"

I looked at Rowley, and it was pretty obvious he was thinking what I was thinking. So it took me about two seconds to come up with a plan.

[Image: A boy thinks about hitting a boy on the head.] The caption reads:

"CLONK"

But then I had a BETTER idea.

222

Rowley's family belongs to a country club, and he's allowed to bring two guests to his pool every day.

So that could actually work out real nice.

[Image: A boy thinks about sunbathing on the beach with his girl.] The caption reads: "GO FETCH US SOME SLUSHIES!"

It looks like things are finally going my way, and you know, it's about time.

I don't know anyone who deserves to catch a break more than me, because like I said before, I'm pretty much one of the best people I know.

223

And I know it's really corny to finish with a happy ending, but it looks like

I'm out of paper anyway, so I guess this is

THE END.

217

224

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Thanks to my wife, Julie, without whose love and support these books would not be possible. Thanks to my family--Mom, Dad, Re, Scott, and Pat--and to my extended family--the Kinneys, Cullinanes, Johnsons, Fitchs, Kennedys, and Burdetts. You have all been so supportive of this endeavor, and it has been great fun to share this experience with you!

Thanks, as always, to my editor, Charlie Kochman, for taking a chance on this series; to Jason Wells, the best publicity director in the business; and to all of the great folks at Abrams.

Thanks to my boss, Jess Brallier, and to all of my coworkers at Family Education Network.

Thanks to Riley, Sylvie, Carla, Nina, Brad, Elizabeth, and Keith out in Hollywoodland.

Thanks to Mel Odom for his wonderfully bombastic write-ups of the first two books.

And thanks to Aaron Nicodemus for encouraging me Way Back When to pick up my cartooning pen after I had given up.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Jeff Kinney is an online game developer and designer, and the author of the #1 New York Times bestsellers Diary of a Wimpy Kid and Diary of a Wimpy Kid: Rodrick Rules, as well as the Diary of a Wimpy Kid Do-It-Yourself Book. He spent his childhood in the Washington, D.C., area and moved to New England in 1995. Jeff lives in southern Massachusetts with his wife, Julie, and their two sons, Will and Grant.